COMING SOUTH TO VIEW THE LAND.

A Distinguished Company of People

AND THE OBJECT OF THEIR VISIT.

The Interest in the Speakership Race.

HARRISON HARASSED BY HUSTON.

General News from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—[Special.]—An excursion party left this city this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on a special train of vestible sleepers over the Richmond and Danville line. This trip is given for the purpose of showing Secretary Proctor and a number of congressmen over the battlefields of Chattanooga and Chickamauga, where a park is to established by the government, for which appropriations have been made. A number of newspaper men accompany the party. The itinerary of the trip is as follows: Leave Washington March 9, 4:30 o'clock p. m., arrive Roanoke, Va., during the night; breakfast 7 o'clock a. m.; leave Roanoke at 8 o'clock a. m.; arrive at Bristol, Tenn., 1:30 o'clock p. m. for dinner; leave Bristol at 1 o'clock p. m. (central time); arrive at Knoxville 5 o'clock p. m.; leave at 5:30 o'clock p. m.; arrive at Chattanooga 8 o'clock p. m. Tuesday; Wednesday, visit Chickamauga battlefield; luncheon; Wednesday evening, reception at the Staunton house; Thursday, visit Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge and other points of interest; Thursday night, banquet at the Read house; Friday morning, start for home; reach Washington Saturday morning.

WHO COMPOSE THE PARTY.

The party is made up as follows: Secretary Proctor, Attorney General Miller, Quartermaster General Batchellor, Assistant Adjutant General Williams, Major Hill and Lieutenant Woodbury, of the war department; Senator and Mrs. Frye, Senator and Mrs. Manderson, Senator and Mrs. Sanders, Senator Carey, Senator Hawley, Representative and Mrs. McKinley, Representative and Mrs. Coggswell, Representative and Mrs. Hooker, Representative and Mrs. Evans, Representative and Mrs. Post, and Representatives Cannon, Cutcheon, Clements, Henderson, Osborne, Perkins and Baker, Commissioner Raum, General Fullerton, General Stewart, Colonel Kellogg, Major Davis of the war department, Major Boyd of the coast survey, Major W. P. Huxley, Mr. J. C. Courts, Thomas P. Cleaves, General R. D. Mussey, General H. V. Boynton, of The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, Charles H. Merillat, Associated Press; P. M. DeGraw, United Press; J. M. Carson, Philadelphia Ledger; James R. Young, Philadelphia Star; U. H. Painter, E. E. Roberts, Chicago Times; E. B. Wight, Chicago Inter Ocean; E. G. Dunnell, New York Times; M. G. Seckendorff, New York Tribune; H. B. F. McFarland, Philadelphia Record; George H. Walker, Cleveland Leader; Paul Wolf, New York Staats Zeitung; Rudolph Kauffmann, Evening Star; Fred E. Chapin, New Haven Palladium; Perry S. Heath, Indianapolis Jouanal, and Mrs. Heath.

Secretary Proctor will continue southward from Chattanooga on a tour of inspection of military posts in the southwest. It is expected that all of the posts along the southern border of the country will be visited. The secretary will be absent several weeks.

WILL VISIT ATLANTA.

There is some talk of the entire party extending their trip to Atlanta, spending Sunday there.

Huston Harassing Harrison.

President Harrison is making desperate efforts to throttle ex-Treasurer Huston, who has been creating havoc with Harrison's Indiana machine, since he went out of office two weeks ago. The president kept him on the rack while he was treasurer, until his bones cracked, and when he returned to Indiana he did so with the intention of subjecting Harrison to the same torture he had endured. He immediately assumed control of the republican state committee, his lieutenants threw out their skirmish lines, and the work of undermining the president began. The first effect of his efforts became manifest in the poll of the legislature, which resulted so disastrously to the president. Harrison has received many letters from his friends in Indiana, warning him of the consequences, unless some way was found to pull Huston off. The poll was so unfavorable to the president's popularity that he was panicstricken, and he is now intenton getting Mephistopheles Huston out of the way. As luck would have it, Charles Emory Smith, the erstwhile editor of The Philadelphia Press, has requested the president to relieve him from the Russian mission, and Harrison is trying to open negotiations with Huston for that office. Huston's ride to Russia would get him out of the country, and reduce his power for evil to a minimum.

The Speakership Race.

Judge Crisp has an excellent chance of securing the entire strength of the New York delegation in the speakership.

The delegation has decided to act as a unit, and throw their united support to one of the leading condidates, as they have none of their own. The leading members of the delegation are personally for Crisp, but support is not given by New York politicians without a good pro quo. Their action will depend largely on the "deal" they can make. New York doesn't often get left when patronage is to be distributed, and no doubt, in this case, she will exact of the next speaker for her twenty-three votes a large slice from off the tenderest part of the patronage ox. That would mean several chairmanships of important committees, and other things thrown in. General Spinola wants the chairmanship of the committee on military affairs. Amos Cumming would like to be at the head of the merchant marine. Mr. Covert would be satisfied to be at the head of the select committee on immigration. Anyhow, the candidate who receives the votes of New York must first make a solemn promise to do "certain things."

HOW COX WAS TREATED.

Nothing could better illustrate New York's astuteness than the fight for the speakership of the forty-sixth congress. The contestants were Sam Randall, Milton Taylor, James Blackburn and Sunset Cox. That congress was called in special session in October, 1877. It was anybody's fight up to two days before the caucus was to be called. Mr. Cox had the assurance of his colleagues of the New York delegation that they would support him, and was also promised a number of votes from outside sources. At that time Samuel J. Tilden was at the head of the democratic machine in New York, and for some unknown reason, which your Uncle Charles A. Dana can probably explain, decided to pull Sam Cox off the track and throw the vote of New York to Randall. The day before the caucus Lieutenant Governor Dorsheimer came down to Washington. He appeared in Mr. Cox's room at the Riggs house. Governor Dorsheimer told Mr. Cox that he was the bearer of an important message and asked to "see him privately." That message was from the sage of Grammercy park, and was to the effect that Mr. Cox was to get out of the speakership race and support Mr. Randall. After the two men had talked together for half an hour or so, Dorsheimer bade adieu to the party and left the hotel. He had not gone a minute before Mr. Cox began to weep like a child. He said that he entered the contest in good faith, had been promised the earnest support of his colleagues, but at the eleventh hour some miserable deal had been entered into by the bosses who controlled New York politics, and he was asked to sink his manhood and go into the deal.

"If I don't get a single vote, I will not formally withdraw," said Mr. Cox.

He didn't withdraw, but he only received twelve votes. Randall was elected.

The New Court Law.

There will be no appointments under the new court bill until congress assembles again. There is a question as to the legality of making the appointments during a recess, and, besides, no lawyer of any great ability would be willing to throw up his practice and run the risk of having his confirmation rejected. The members of the supreme court in each circuit, together with the circuit judge now in office, constitute a majority of the new court, and those two will probably organize on the second Monday in June, and immediately adjourn until December. There is probably a mistake in the statement that the supreme court call in question the constitutionality of the law. If the corrections which were made after the bill became a law had not been made, the old harry would have been to pay, the present docket of the court being wiped out, but with these corrections there is said to be no doubt about the constitutionality of the law, though its practicability is generally doubted. What is a fact is that the law is very awkwardly drawn, and will probably not work well. Already there is talk of amendments which will have to be made. The act is not held in very high esteem by lawyers.

PALMER'S CHANCES GOOD.

A Change Which May Result in His Election.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 9.—There has been another radical change in the senatorial situation, and tonight it looks very much as though Streeter is done for. Senator Evans, of Aurora, leader of the anti-Streeter republicans, is responsible.

The undertanding now is that after a conference with Evans tomorrow, Taubeneck will continue to vote for Streeter or any other man he may select, and that Cockrell and Moore will vote for Palmer or simply cast their votes in such a way as to secure his election.

RECORD OF THE FLAMES.

A Large Conflagration at Shelbyville, Tenn. Other Fires.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 9.—A disatrous conflagration visited Shelbyville, Tenn., yesterday. The loss is estimated at $50,000, most of which is covered by insurance. Storehouses occupied by the following firms were destroyed: C. W. Russell, tinware; Coughlin & Tillman, grocery merchants; Wood & Hutton, clothing; C. W. Cunningham, bookstore; J. H. Gillis, dry goods; the Bedford county printing office and W. H. Trail's barber shop.

OMAHA, Neb., March 9.—The printing house of Gibson, Miller & Richardson was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $100,000. Fully insured.

THE CHIEF OF ELYTON,

Josiah Morris, Dies Worth Five Million Dollars.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—[Special.]—Josiah Morris, the oldest and best known banker and capitalist of the south, died suddenly at his home here this morning, aged seventy-three. He was the founder of the famous Elyton Land Company, of Birmingham, and was one of the greatest developers of that city. His estate is valued at from $3,500,000 to $5,000,000. He leaves an only daughter, who is the wife of Dr. B. J. Baldwin, the famous oculist and specialist of this city, who, it is believed, falls heir to his entire property.

The Nine New Judges.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—It is stated on the highest authority that the nine circuit judges provided for at the recent session of congress will not be appointed for several months yet, the president being of the opinion that each of the new courts can be organized at the time fixed, the third Wednesday in June, by the associate justice of the supreme court, the regular circuit judge and the district judges in each of the respective circuits, regardless of the fact that the new circuit judges may not then have been appointed. The same authority said that this disposed of the report that there would be an extra session of the senate for the consideration of these appointments.

Testing the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The supreme court today advanced and assigned for argument on the fourth Monday in April, the case of Boyd, Sutton, Cox and Stenback against the collector of customs of New York, brought for the purpose of testing the tariff law. The government and counsel for importers were both united in asking this action.

Solicitor General Taft, in behalf of the government, opposed a similar motion made by counsel for Marshall, Field & Co., of Chicago, on the ground that the case as made up did not present the questions involved, at least, so far as the interests of the government were concerned.

Coupon Cases Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The supreme court today dismissed four tax coupon cases between individuals and representatives of the city of Lynchburg on the ground that pecuniary matters were involved and that the amounts in controversy were not sufficient to bring the case before the court. In three other cases motions to dismiss were denied, without prejudice, because the papers were not sufficiently explicit.

Two Boys Killed by a Train.

HAZLETON, Pa., March 9.—An express train for Philadelphia, while running at a very rapid rate of speed, near Penn Haven yesterday, dashed into a crowd of boys walking on the track. They were on the up track and stepped on the other track to escape a special passenger train. They did not see the express approaching, and two of them were struck and instantly killed.

August Belmont in Control.

NEW YORK, March 9.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the the Louisville and Nashville road today, the office of chairman of the board was created, and August Belmont was elected to occupy the position in control of the New York office of the company. Milton H. Smith, the present vice president, was elected president, with his offices at Louisville, Ky.

An Epidemic of Trichinosis.

IDA GROVE, Ia., March 9.—The epidemic of trichinosis in the German settlement continues, and two more deaths have occurred, making five deaths in all. Several new cases have developed, and two more deaths are expected. Advices from Washington say that an investigation will be made by the bureau of animal industry to prevent the further infection of swine in this locality.

THE DELUGE COVERS DIXIE.

The Incessant Rains of the Present Season

HAVE FLOODED THE FIELDS.

Atlanta High Above All Water Mark.

THE STATUS OF THE WATER GAUGE

A Record of the Rainy Days Now Past.

The incessant rains of the past few days almost convinced people that there was another deluge to come, and among the ward politicians there was an incipient movement to elect a Noah.

Happily, this will not be necessary.

Since last Wednesday morning we have had rain enough to cause disastrous floods if it had been concentrated in forty-eight to sixty hours, but the rain took a breaking spell on Saturday, and gave the accumulated water in the streams nearly twenty-four hours to get out of the way before the great rain of Sunday came. That one day's rest was providential, for without it millions of acres would have been flooded and an immense amount of property would have been damaged.

If the rain of the five days had all fallen in forty-eight hours, it would have seriously troubled several towns in Georgia; but as it happens, there is no serious damage, and will not be, for the water will be well out of the way before another heavy rain. There is not in sight on the weather map a rain center that is at all likely to come this way, and if a new one should appear in Texas or Arizona this morning, it would take it two days to get here.

The situation on the Mississippi is not yet bad, but there is a rainstorm over the headwaters in the north and west, and the present size of the father of waters is not likely to to diminish rapidly. Yesterday morning its height at Memphis was thirty-four feet eight inches, which is sufficient to flood the Arkansas bottoms for miles. As that is almost a yearly occurrence, and is expected, no great damage will result.

On the Mississippi side there is not likely to be trouble unless the levee breaks. It has been greatly strengthened since last year's flood, and with the present stage of the water, no trouble is apprehended.

Western travel by the Georgia Pacific railroad is not in danger. That line runs through the high rolling country in upper Mississippi, and is above high water. At Greenville, the lowest point, there is no trouble. A telegram sent from there yesterday to Mr. John K. Ottley, who was about to start from Atlanta for that section, stated that everything was all right and regular schedules were not interrupted.

The unbroken gloom of the past three weeks tended to depress people and fill their minds with forebodings. Nineteen of the twenty-eight days in February were cloudy, and the first week of March had only a few hours of sunshine. The depressing effect is not confined to people's minds. It is the same with vegetation. For days and days the gardens and the budding leaves did not see the sun. The soil could not be plowed and the seed could not be put in the ground. The flowers almost ceased to bloom and there was nothing touching the senses but the monotonous drip, drip of the rain.

At last there is prospect of clear, cool weather for a few days in the southern states. In the meantime, a great rainstorm is making its way from the northwest to the great lakes. There is at this writing no sign of a rain or a storm on the gulf. The barometer at Key West, where the effect of the storm is first felt, stands at the normal height.

Yesterday morning's map showed a cold wave in Texas. It dropped down from the bleak northwest, bringing what is known as a "norther," and sending the mercury down to twenty-eight at San Antonio. The cold wave rapidly made its way eastward, and at 8 o'clock yesterday morning its advance guard had reached Atlanta with a temperature of forty-four.

Strange to say Savannah had not felt its influence at all, and the temperature was twenty degrees higher than in Atlanta.

"Cold waves appearing in the northwest, on the east of the Rocky mountains, where 87 per cent of them appear, may take either of the three courses," said Observer Byram yesterday. "And it is sometimes a difficult thing for the signal service to decide which route they will take. The first class goes directly eastward across the lakes, the second makes a straight shoot to the southeast, coming in the direction of Georgia, and the third drops down into Texas, causing a 'norther,' and then moves eastward.

"A cold wave which appeared in the northwest last week had every prospect of coming straight to the southeast, but suddenly a rainstorm appeared in the southwest, and moving eastward, left a vacuum in its wake. The cold wave rushed down to fill up the vacuum; then it moved eastward, where it arrived a good many hours later than was expected. The present cold wave took the same course."

The Third Presbyterian Church.

The injury to the Third Presbyterian church Sunday has proven quite a setback. The retaining wall which fell was prevented from doing great damage by the thick wall of the church, but, as it was, the loss will foot up several hundred dollars.

Inasmuch as there are no available funds now on hand, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Holderby, extends an earnest appeal for contributions and other assistance. The church is now in the process of erection, the upper part being incomplete, and all the money on hand is needed for that. The congregation is composed of hard-working people, who cannot contribute liberally, and who are deserving of aid. It is for this reason that it is being asked of outsiders.

In addition, the parsonage house is in danger, and will have to be rebuilt. Then there is grading to be done. It can be easily seen that there is a splendid opportunity for charitable donations.

The street commission and inspectors were busy yesterday looking after washouts and superintending squads of hands scattered through the city, repairing, as far as the water-soaked earth would permit, the damage done by the torrents of rain of the last few days.

No very serious damage was done except to the Nelson street cave-in. Next in importance to this were the gullies cut by the water in the streets at the corner of Pine and Calhoun and at the corner of Harris and Butler.

Williams street, between Mills and Hunnicutt, was badly washed out and rendered dangerous.

Atlanta's sewers stood the test of the flood of water, not a single break occurring.

The Cumberland Raging.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 9.—The phenomenal rise in the river continues, and, at 1 o'clock this morning, the gauge read 46.6 feet, a rise since Friday morning of 25.6 feet. Much damage has been done by reason of the rapidity of the rise than would otherwise have occurred. Probably between 1,500 and 2,000 people have been driven from their homes, and goods in warehouses and cellars suffered much damage. As viewed from the bridge, the river is a vast, angry torrent spreading out over the lowlands.

Nearly all the timber yards are overflowed, and in some considerable loss will result. The river has brought out a vast amount of driftwood, and it is passing the city in great quantities. During the day the river was gaining slowly and steadily. Merchants were busy all day removing goods from cellars and warehouses near the wharf to higher ground. It is estimated there are between 300 and 500 families in the city that have been driven from their homes by the high waters.

At police headquarters many inquiries for shelter are being made. Reports from all points on the river show that it is rising everywhere, and the fullness of the Ohio and Mississippi will prevent the Cumberland from running down as rapidly as it otherwise would.

A Knoxville, Tenn., special says: Very heavy rains prevailed throughout that section yesterday and last night, and all streams are out of the banks. A seven-year-old colored child was drowned.

Sleet-Storm in Texas.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—Severe storms are reported from various points in Texas. At San Antonio at noon yesterday a heavy sleet-storm from the northeast lasted from twenty minutes to half an hour, doing considerable damage to fruit trees.

After a heavy rain at Jefferson, Tex., last evening, the weather turned very cold and it snowed for about an hour. It is feared the fruit trees have been very badly damaged.

Texarkna, Ark., reports a light snow, the first this winter.

The first snow at Palestine, Tex., for three years, fell yesterday.

A Blizzard in the Northwest.

Dispatches from numerous points throughout Minnesota, northern Iowa, central Illinois, southern Wisconsin and eastern Nebraska report that the severest snowstorm of the winter raged Saturday night and all day Sunday. There was a regular blizzard blowing, and the snow badly drifted. Trains are running behind time and, especially in Minnesota, with great difficulty. In some localities not a wheel is turning. Travel on wagon roads has been wholly suspended and in the cities street car traffic is more or less delayed.

St. Cloud, Minn., reports drifts from five to twenty feet deep.

Moorhead reports snow three to five feet deep on the prairie, and in many localities drifts ten feet deep.

The Pelham Factory May Be Destroyed.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., March 9.—[Special.]—A dispatch has just reached here which says that the entire first floor of the Pelham factory is under water. Much of the first floor has been washed away, and the whole building is hourly expected to fall. The damages have already reached thousands of dollars and will probably be much more. The factory is the property of a joint stock company, of which Mr. Bonwell, of Charleston, is acting president. The mills are valued at $150,000, and may be totally destroyed. The factory is on the Tiger river, and is on the line between Spartanburg and Greenville counties.

The Danger at Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, March 9.—The Tennessee river at this point has reached the danger line and is rising three inches per hour. Experienced river men predict that it will reach at least forty-five feet, which will overflow much of the city in low places, cut off several railroads, and for a time suspend the operations of several manufactories. The rainfall here for thirty-six hours is 3¼ inches, and extends up the river and in East Tennessee generally. The sky is overcast, and the indications for more showers are very promising.

Alabama Rivers Rising.

MONTGOMERY, March 9.—The heavy rains have raised the streams, but do not impede railroad travel. All trains come and go on time. The Alabama river has risen considerably, but no serious damage is apprehended unless a great flood comes down from the Coosa and Tallapoosa rivers.

A Blizzard in England.

LONDON, March 9.—A terrific blizzard prevails throughout the southwest portion of England. The storm is the severest on record in that part of the country, and it is feared an enormous amount of damage has been done. Reports already received show that many small vessels have been wrecked off the coast. The loss of live stock is also reported to be heavy. Hundreds of sheep and lambs have perished in the storm.

PROTECTING THE SPEAKERS.

Exciting Meetings of the Two Factions of the Irish Party.

DUBLIN, March 9.—Edward Harrington, member of parliament for West Kerry, and Pierce Mahoney, member of parliament for North Meath, yesterday addressed a meeting at Milltown, County Kerry, near Tralee, and though the place is in Harrington's own parliamentary division, it was with difficulty that the Parnellites obtained a hearing. The anti-Parnellites mustered a strong force and endeavored to interrupt the meeting. A body of Parnellites from Tralee surrounded the platform and protected the speakers. There were several free fights between the two factions.

COMMENT OF LONDON PAPERS.

LONDON, March 9.—The Evening Standard this afternoon says that Parnell in his speech at Newry yesterday forestalled Gladstone's expected final declaration to shake off Parnell by himself shaking off Gladstone as useless any longer for an instrument with which to obtain home rule.

The Times today comments upon the character of the Parnell emissaries to the United States, saying that James O'Reilly is an ex-Fenian and late arms agent for the Clan-Na-Gael Society. John O'Connor is classed as a man whom John Devery brought from the rat holes of conspiracy. John E. Redmond is by The Times dubbed an avowed adherent of the "harp without the crown."

The Times' article concludes with the remark that "if any persons can persuade the advanced section in the United States to open its purse it will be them," referring, of course, to the gentlemen mentioned.

Still Discussing the Empress' Visit.

PARIS, March 9.—Diplomats and politicians are still discussing the recent visit of Empress Frederick to Paris. Count von Munster, German ambassador, attributes the moral check sustained by Germany to the influence of Baron de Mohrenhein, Russian ambassador, in Paris, whom the count irreverently designates as "an old donkey." Count von Munster's supposition is believed to be greatly true. In addition, the German embassy officials continue to criticise President Carnot's action in not calling upon Empress Federick when she was in Paris, and it is stated that hereafter all arrangements will be made beforehand should any other member of the imperial family of Germany visit the French capital.

The Lion Attacked Him.

PARIS, March 9.—Seets, the lion tamer, was nearly killed today by one of six lions he was training to perform in the play of "Nero." One lion became sulky and refractory. Seets armed with a lance undertook to drive the lion out of a corner where it was sulking. He lost his footing, dropped his weapon, and the lion attacked and nearly killed him before the other trainers and keepers could rescue him. He will probably die soon.

Sending Troops to Cuba.

PARIS, March 9.—A dispatch from Madrid says: The Spanish government is about to dispatch 6,870 troops to Cuba on account of the increasing political agitation on the island. If the situation becomes worse General Campbell will be appointed viceroy. The Spanish press is protesting against Americans encouraging the Cuban separatists in connection with the proposed treaty of commerce.

The Fog Blinded Them.

NORFOLK, March 9.—During a dense fog this morning the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk steamer, New York, collided off Lambert's point with the barge Lawrence, with 1,000 tons of coal for New London. The barge was sunk and the steamer sustained slight damage to her bow.

AUGUSTA AFLOAT. A MODERN VENICE.

The Angry Waters of the Savannah

HAVE BROKEN THEIR BANKS

And the Streets of Augusta Are Flooded.

THE ALARM IS SOUNDED EARLY.

Calling the People to the Work of Preservation.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Augusta is partly under water tonight.

The rains for the past week have done their work well, and the rise in the river has been sudden and rapid.

The waters of the Savannah river have overflown and inundated a great part of Augusta. The rise commenced yesterday, and has been steady at a phenomenal rate ever since. The rainfall here yesterday, however, only amounted to one and forty one-hundredths of an inch.

The grave apprehension of a freshet has come true.

THE ALARM SENT OUT.

Just before day this morning the police were sent out to alarm the people in the upper section of the city, near the river, who were unaware that they were surrounded by the water, which was quickly coming up and flowing into the houses. The people were greatly alarmed by the appearance of the water. Many knew what it was. They had experienced the flood of two years ago. All night and all day the river has kept rising, and each hour the people have become more alarmed and more apprehensive.

At 6 o'clock this morning the water had reached thirty-one feet, and was coming up six inches an hour.

At noon it reached thirty-three and a half feet, and was rising three inches an hour. The people knew then what could be expected, and what was coming, and commenced making preparations for a flood.

THE MOVING BEGINS.

It was a timely precaution, for at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the water commenced breaking through the sewers and filling the low streets and submerging the thoroughfares. Hundreds of people have been made homeless, forced to leave their houses for the protection of life. The poorer class of people are sufferers. Teams are tonight moving families with their household effects through the water from the flooded section to dry land. Many families have been forced to move to the second stories of their homes for safety.

SAVING THEIR GOODS.

Tonight the merchants are busy piling their stocks above high water mark, fearing the water may fill Broad street in the business section. The town is full of excitement and bathed in water. The river has reached out and embraced the city, and made an open sea of it. Hundreds of people at work have been caught and are water-bound, and are making their way for home in canoes, hacks and every other conceivable way. Churches are being used as warehouses for the storage of furniture and household effects.

THE MILLS SHUT DOWN.

All the mills and factories have been closed down all day, and this afternoon the electric cars were forced to stop running, as water had submerged the track, on Broad and Marbury, on Marbury south of Broad, on Twigga south of Fenwick, also McKinnie, south of Broad. That portion of the city that is now inundated is the north side of Broad street, from the Planters' hotel up to Marbury street, and is covered entirely from Marbury street up to the west boundary, on all the streets south of Fenwick, and the water is quickly filling up the streets between Fenwick and Broad. The water now makes Walker street impassable west of the Union depot, and it is flowing down Greene street as far as Kollock. The whole city is encompassed, or made an island, as water is on nearly every street in the city, but does not entirely cover them all.

NO LOSS OF LIFE.

As yet no loss of life by drowning is reported.

Early this morning Sergeant Fisher, at the signal service bureau, gave out the following:

From advices received throughout the water shed territory of the Savannah river, there has been an average rainfall of four inches. In the past two days slightly heavier in the northern part of Georgia and western South Carolina, and gradually increasing coastward.

This condition, with clearing weather to follow by night, should not permit the river to rise at Augusta higher than thirty-four feet, city bridge as measurement.

THE RISE OF THE RIVER.

Sergeant Fisher missed it. The river reached thirty-four feet at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and was then still rising three inches an hour, the rate it has been coming up for the past four hours. Mr. Keener, superintendent of the bridge, who is more familiar with the river than anybody in the city, says he thinks the river will continue rising until midnight, and will commence falling about 2 o'clock in the morning.

The weather has been clear here today, and the same report is received from the up country, and a cold wave has set in, which is encouraging and favorable for an early fall of the water.

RAILROADS STOP WORK.

On account of the deluge the Port Royal and Western Carolina railroads and the Central road suspended business early this morning, and no trains were or could have been sent out today.

Hamburg, just across the river, is completely under water, which is not an unusual thing for that town. The canal is safe and all right, though water is flowing over the banks at its levels.

The latest news from the river is that nothing but a flood is ahead. The town is in darkness, as the electric lights are shut off.

AN ENGINEER KILLED.

Engineer Charles Davenport was killed in an accident on the Macon branch of the Georgia railroad last night. He was at the throttle of engine No. 28, of the night express, that left Macon at 8 o'clock last night. About 9:30 o'clock, as the train was running slow, at the fifty-seven mile post, two miles east of Haddock's, looking out for washouts, the engine ran into a wash on a culvert. The locomotive first sank down, and then turned over completely on its side. Engineer Davenport got caught under his engine. He was extricated with much difficulty. He was badly hurt and received internal injuries from which he died at 5 o'clock this morning.

None of the passengers were hurt and not one of the cars of the train was derailed. The service train is now at the washout and preparations are being made to transfer at the washout. Mr. Davenport lived in Augusta with his mother and sisters, on Calhoun street, near Elbert. He was a single gentleman, about forty years old. Mr. Davenport's life was insured for several thousand dollars.

The Highest Mark.

The river at 11 o'clock read at the gauge on the city bridge thirty-five feet, and is still rising two inches an hour. The water has passed Campbell street, on Broad, and has reached half way to Jackson street, and is rapidly coming down. The water is spreading on all sides, and it is impossible to get beyond a limited district in the heart of the business center. The merchants will not lose much by the freshet, as nearly all the goods are piled up beyond reach of the water. The whole town is awake watching the water make headway. Nearly all the policemen are relieved from duty tonight, as their beats are out of sight.

Your correspondent left the Planters' hotel at 8 o'clock p. m., without inconvenience, but was unable to return at 11 o'clock, as the water was several feet deep on the square between Campbell and McCartan streets.

Sergeant Wambough, of the signal service bureau, has just said that the Flint river has reached as high a mark as it will go.

AUGUSTA AT MIDNIGHT.

The river at midnight reached 35 feet, 2 inches. It holds its own, and is still rising two inches an hour.

THE ONLY CASUALTY.

Florence Edwards, an inmate of an uptown bagnio, while going home tonight in a boat, capsized on Reynolds street. She fell out of the boat and narrowly escaped drowning. She was saved by Shine Hannah, who dived deep into the muddy stream and rescued her. This is the only accident so far reported.

THE TICKET OFFICE CLOSED.

Union Ticket Agent Gibbes has wired all the railroad officials that he had to abandon his office on account of the water being several feet deep in the ticket office. He has sent the contents of the office up the Georgia road.

THE LATEST TELEGRAM.

No perceptible change at 1 o'clock this morning. The water is thought to be at a stand, or between a stand and a slight rise. It is thought the worst is now over.

The Floods Along the Flint.

FORT VALLEY, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—There was over four inches of rainfall in this section from yesterday at noon until midnight. Considerable damage was done to farm lands, and the farmers who have planted corn are very blue. The Southwestern railroad track was washed out for forty yards this side of Montezuma, and all trains delayed. The streets here were very badly damaged, and a large culvert washout on one of the leading thoroughfares, which will take two weeks to fill in again. Water is standing from an inch to three feet deep in all the basins of this level land, and plowing will be retarded fully ten days. The waters in Flint river rose very rapidly during the day, and are still rising. There is danger of large numbers of stock being drowned on the several large stock farms along the river, among them Senator Gordon's. The damage can not be estimated now.

The Raging Waters.

MACON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The recent heavy rains, and especially the floods of yesterday, are getting in their work on the railroads leading into this city.

The track of the East Tennessee road at Dame's Ferry, a few miles above Macon, is completly submerged by water and no trains can pass until the waters subside.

The south-bound train due at Macon last night at 10:20 has not yet arrived.

The track below Macon, near Stratton's brickyard, is also covered with water, and north-bound trains have to come into the city on the Georgia Southern track.

No trains have arrived or departed on the Covington and Macon road today. About one-quarter of a mile of the track on the other side of the bridge at Macon has washed away, and about ten or twelve feet of the abutment of the bridge on this side has also been washed away. The tracks in the yard of the road at Macon are submerged.

The Covington and Macon trains may arrange to use the track of the Central to get in and out of the city.

The passenger on the Southwestern road, due in Macon this morning at 6 o'clock, was bulletined four hours late, on account of a washout near Smithville.

The Ocmulgee river is very high and is still rising, and if the rains are still prevailing in the up country there will be a great freshet, probably.

The Ocmulgee is within four feet of high water mark.

It has risen into a number of the houses in East Macon.

MILL WASHED AWAY.

A $2,500 mill erected at Bailey's last summer washed away last night.

The heavy rains of yesterday and last night prevailed throughout the county.

Rome's Rivers Are Full.

ROME, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Rome has some noble rivers at present. They are full, overflowing the low ground. The heavy rains of the past few days caused the rivers to rise rapidly, and this evening the waters are running through the fourth ward. This is the only portion of the city the water will run over. The waters will hardly reach Broad street, and no fears are entertained by the merchants. The clear weather this morning was hailed with delight. Boating is much enjoyed.

The Track Is Now Clear.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—A land slide on the Georgia Midland railroad at Pine Mountain tunnel, completely blockaded the trains yesterday. Fortunately no injury was done the train. The mail from Atlanta did not reach here until 11 o'clock tonight. The track is now clear.

The Damage in Putnam.

EATONTON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The heavy rains of yesterday and last night have done a great amount of damage to cotton lands, bridges, etc. Parties from in the neighborhood of Flat Rock report that the bridge at Armours, a public crossing over Little river at that point, has been carried away, and considerable damage done to W. G. Armour's, near Eatonton. The wagon bridge over the same stream at the old Eatonton factory is badly damaged, a portion being washed away and the structure otherwise damaged. The bridge was recently rebuilt by the county at considerable expense. One of the abutments of the new trestle of the railroad was washed out last night, though trains are running over it today, and the damage has about been repaired. Reports of great damage to the mills down the river have been received, but nothing definite can be learned tonight.

Deep Gullies Made.

GRIFFIN, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Yesterday's rain was the most disastrous of any that has fallen in years.

Farmers in the country report land as badly washed. Lands that were never known to wash are now cut up with gullies, some of which are as deep as eighteen inches.

In the city the damage is very heavy. The streets are cut into gullies. Walks that had become hardened from long tramping on them resemble lands that had had two horse plows in them.

Will Contests Settled.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Fayerweather will contest has been brought to a sudden close. The case has been settled and the objections withdrawn. Ex-Surrogat Rollins declines to say upon what basis the matter was settled. Surrogate Ransom, in admitting the will to probate, remarked that the allegation of undue influence had not been sustained.

After taking some evidence this forenoon concerning Robert Ray Hamilton, Surrogate Martin gave immediate judgment in the noted contest over the will of Hamilton by Evangelin L. Mann, in which he declared that Hamilton is legally dead, and then admitted the will to probate.

PENSACOLA.

THE ARRIVAL OF THE ATLANTA PARTY.

The Presentation of the Silver Service Arranged to Take Place Today—The Banquet Last Night.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 9.—[Special.]—The Atlantians have inspected the Atlanta, and by unanimous vote the beautiful craft has been declared worthy the name she bears.

A beauty she is, indeed, and if she isn't considered the pride of the white squadron she ought to be.

All the members of the Atlanta party are enthusiastic over her, and tonight the pleasantest anticipations center about the presentation exercises tomorrow.

It is a gala week in Pensacola, with many events of interest happening each day, but not one attracts so universal attention as this Atlanta episode; no, not even the drill of the drill squadron.

Bright sunshine greeted the people from Atlanta when they awoke in Montgomery early this morning. How greatly this was appreciated, everybody who has enjoyed the sixty-one straight days of Atlanta rain will understand, and further comment is unnecessary. The day was crisp and beautiful. A little too cold, perhaps, but none the less acceptable for that. The party in Major Tyler's car, "Georgia," was astir bright and early. The morning was spent by the younger members in animated games of hearts, supplemented now and then by a game of Jim Freeman's own making, which he called "fitz," while us old uns told war stories or listened to them.

At 12 o'clock our train stopped in the identical spot where stood the last train graced, in a professional manner, by our late lamented friend, Rube Burrows. Then came a change to Pensacola branch and in two hours we are shaking hands with Colonel Chipley and the other members of the reception committee, who had come to hand over to Atlanta the official keys of this beautiful little city.

Everything was in readiness.

From the depot we were driven at once to the wharf where the tug Juno was waiting to receive us. This little steamer was placed at the disposal of our party, and we steamed away gulfward in search of the white squadron and the Atlanta. The run down Pensacola bay was full of interest to the delegation of land lubbers. The beautiful bay was filled with crafts of all sizes, shapes, manners and conditions. Then on either side were Forts Pickens, Barrancas, McCrea, the navy yard and old redoubt, all rich in historic interest. Captain Howell told of the visit of the Georgia boys to this spot in the early days of 1861, and of the capture of Barrancas and McCrea. As he was telling the last of his stories our tug slipped through into the deep green of the gulf, and the search for the white squadron began in earnest. Sails everywhere, but nothing to indicate the presence of the men-of-war. On and on the Juno sped. A stiff breeze amounting almost to a gale sprang up, and there were aboard of that craft not a few who were battling bravely to keep down the feeling which told of their lack of experience at this sort of thing. Several efforts were made to induce the captain to turn back, but he had been told to find the Atlanta.

"I'm going to find her if I have to go to Cuba," he said.

It was not long before his keen eye discovered the men-of-war in the distance, and long before we could see anything at all he told us all five of the ships of the new navy were there. To make a long story short, it was but a few minutes when the ships were close to us, and we were allowed to witness the drilling by the great cruisers.

A beautiful sight was that!

Then the squadron, the flagship Chicago in the lead, come on toward the bay.

The Juno steamed up by the side of the Chicago, and after we had all examined her thoroughly, fell back to the Atlanta.

The first thing the Atlanta people did was to cheer themselves hoarse.

An echoing cheer came from the cruiser, and by the aid of Lieutenant's Martin's signalling, the civilities of the daywere exchanged with the young officers of the Atlanta. Some tender messages were passed, but of course it will never do to tell on the ladies. Then the Atlanta came to anchor, and with a parting cheer the Juno steamed into the bay.

Tonight the citizens of Pensacola entertained the distinguished guests at a grand banquet at the Hotel Escambia, and, of course, the Atlanta party was on thelist of distinguished guests.

The affair was a most elegant one. There were present a large number of distinguished people, and many prominent naval and military officers. Colonel Chipley presided. Responses to toasts were:

"Welcome to Florida," by Governor Fleming.

"Our Guests," response by Hon. S. R. Mallory, member of congress.

"The Union," Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky.

"The Army," Hon. W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia.

"The Navy," Hon. H. A. Herbert, of Alabama.

"Maryland," Governor Jackson, of Maryland.

"The Press," Evan P. Howell, of Atlanta.

Besides these there were present Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania; Admiral Walker and many others.

The programme for tomorrow, the Atlanta day, was arranged tonight by the committee after a conference with Admiral Walker.

At 11 o'clock the Atlantians will board the Dolphin, the admiral's flagship. They will then be presented to Admiral Walker and the Dolphin will carry them to the Atlanta, where the presentation will take place. From that time the Atlanta is at the disposition of the Atlanta party. They will inspect her and the other ships of the squadron. The Atlanta will take them out to the gulf and will entertain them until evening. The Atlanta committee is Mayor and Mrs. Hemphill, E. P. Howell and Miss Howell, A. J. McBride and Miss McBride, J. C. Freeman, Thomas Peters, Mrs. Peters and Thomas Peters, Jr., Judge T. P. Simmons, John Milledge, Lieutenant J. T. Martin, Lieutenant W. A. Bethel.

J. K. OHL.

THEY LEAVE FOR THE DRILL.

The Atlanta Party Leaves for Pensacola—A Fine Train of Cars.

The Atlanta delegation reached Pensacola yesterday at noon and were given a royal reception.

Mayor Hemphill, who was detained by pressing business engagements, left last night, accompanied by Mrs. Hemphill.

He will reach Pensacola this morning in time to make the presentation speech and to take part in the presentation ceremonies.

The Atlanta party went away in high spirits and were full of happy anticipations.

Among those who were in the private car were:

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Meador.

Mr. and Mrs. James Freeman.

Captain E. P. Howell and Miss Effie Howell.

Councilman McBride and Miss Law McBride.

Mr. William Hemphill.

The train was made up of the best coaches on the road, and, in addition to the delegation with the present, quite a number of citizens went along.

The trip was an easy, pleasant one, and every one of the party enjoyed it very much.

A Refusal to Reinstate.

MARIETTA, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Judge George F. Gober rendered a decision this morning, refusing to reinstate a motion for new trial made by the defendants in the case of Pozeman against the Northern Assurance Company of London. This case has been tried three times, the virdict in each trial being in favor of the plaintiff. The first two verdicts were set aside. A motion to set aside the last verdict was made by the defendants, but summarily dismissed.

THE NEW ROUTE

By Which the Augusta and West Florida Road Will Be Finished.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The Augusta and West Florida road will certainly be built. It is understood that, by a new arrangement now being worked on by the projectors of the road, Mr. Jesse Thompson's railroad down the country will not be used. By the latest plan, the Augusta and West Florida will run over the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville railroad to Matthews' Station, and arrangements have been perfected by which the Lowesville and Wadley road will be a part of the Augusta and West Florida. The road will be extended on this side to that station, and extended on the other side on through to Florida by the route already mapped out.

Colonel Baily, president of the construction company, is expected back in Augusta tomorrow. He has made all the financial arrangements in New York, and is coming back with the necessary money to build the road. This new arrangement will mean the broadening of the gauge of the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville road.

There will be a meeting of the Augusta and West Florida road tomorrow, and then all the above plans will be perfected.

SHOT AT THE CONDUCTOR.

Tough Tramps Who Insist Upon a Free Ride.

ALBANY, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Conductor Hamilton, of the Central, while bringing the Cannon Ball from Montgomery to this city Sunday morning, had a narrow escape from being shot at Smithville by three toughs whom he had put off the train because they would not pay their fare. The toughs got on his train between Dawson and Smithville, but, after refusing to pay their fare, were not put off until Smithville was reached, owing to the fact that the train was behind time. When the train left Smithville Conductor Hamilton found the toughs on the rear of the sleeper, and, putting them off by force, they replied by shooting at him three times. They returned to Smithville, and when the west-bound Cannon Ball came along they boarded it, but were forced off the train two miles from Smithville at the point of a pistol by Conductor Dewberry. They were arrested in Dawson today and carried to Smithville for trial.

THE FACTS COMING OUT

As to Who Were the Murderous Wretches Who Attacked Saulter.

ATHENS, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The Saulter mystery continues to deepen. Two more white men have been arrested on the charge of murder and robbery. These were two men named Barry and Bone. The policemen were the parties making the arrest, and they captured these two men his evening and lodged them in jail. Barry was released on a $1,000 bond, and Bone still remains behind the bars. Both men strenuously deny any knowledge of or complicity in the affair. They were both highly incensed at the arrest, and stoutly protest their innocence. The scarf pin worn by the man who shot old man Saulter was a large gold one, with three owls on it, as old man Saulter described it, and today the old man identified a pin taken from Reeves, who is in Clarke county jail, as the one worn by his would-be murderer. Slowly the facts of this diabolical attempt are coming to light.

ENTERED BY A BURGLAR.

The Thief Seemed to Know That the Money Was There.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Late last night, or early this morning, the residence of Jesse Miller was entered by a burglar, who succeeded in getting away with $246, taken from a bureau drawer in a bedroom. Mr. Miller is engineer of the Columbus and Western railroad, and went out with his train on Sunday night. No one was at home but Mrs. Miller and a young lady. The money was taken from Mrs. Miller's room, but the burglar failed to arouse her. Miller is secretary and treasurer of the local lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and the money belonged to the lodge. He had collected it Saturday afternoon too late to deposit, and it is suspected the burglar was apprised of that fact, and took advantage of Miller's absence from the city to make the raid.

LEM BURCH

Leaves Macon Today in Company with Deputy United States Marshal Lofton.

MACON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Lem Burch, the man on whose confession the Hall conspirators were sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for the assassination of Captain John C. Forsyth, left this morning for his home in Telfair county, having been pardoned by the president. He was pardoned several weeks ago, but Burch has been in Macon ever since, as the official notice of the pardon was delayed in reaching here. Burch says he is not afraid to return to Telfair, and does not apprehend that any of the friends of the men whose liberties he swore away will seek to kill him. Whether he really feels as brave as he talks is not known, for Burch left today in company with Deputy United States Marshal Lofton as a body guard.

It is said that the government does not send Lofton to protect Burch, but that Burch pays Lofton $50 to perform the service for him.

NUMEROUS CANDIDATES

For the Position of Oil Inspector, Made Vacant by Colonel Hardeman's Death.

MACON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Hon. Thomas Hardeman was holding the position of oil inspector at the time of his death. There are numerous candidates for the vacancy. Among the names THE CONSTITUTION has heard are: George Feagin, Eden Taylor, Jerry Hollis, M. J. Hatcher, Francis Long, T. S. Massenburg, C. C. Sims, Sr., Dr. W. B. Daniel, R. W. Bonner, R. B. Hall and several others. The position pays about $100 per month. The appointment is made by Hon. R. T. Nesbitt, commissioner of agriculture.

The Mayor Means Business.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The frequenters, witnesses and prisoners at the police court have been unpleasantly surprised by the locking of the doors, and the turning loose of a couple of health officers on them. In all about 150 who had not been vaccinated, were treated to doses of virus. The mayor insists on the carrying out of an old ordinance, compelling every resident to be vaccinated.

Elbert Court in Session.

ELBERTON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Elbert superior court meets this morning with Hon Hamilton McWhorter, our new judge, presiding. While Judge McWhorter has never presided here, his rapid, thorough and impartial manner of dispatching the business of a court has preceded him, and our people are prepared to be pleased with him, and are anticipating a very satisfactory court week.

Artillery Punch Not Mentioned.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The Ohioans, sixty in all, will be here tomorrow, and will be quartered at the De Soto. They will be driven around the city and its suburbs in the morning, and in the afternoon taken to Thunderbolt, where a fish and oyster dinner will be served, and at night they will leave for Macon.

Death of Bishop Haygood's Mother-in-Law.

OXFORD, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Amanda Yarbrough, of this place, died Saturday night at the home of her son-in-law, Dr. Evans. She was a much-beloved old lady, being the mother of Rev. G. W. Yarbrough and mother-in-law of Bishop Haygood. She was in her seventieth year at the time of her death.

Shot and Mortally Wounded.

LINCOLNTON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Casper Jacobs, a negro, living on Mr. Steve Dill's place, shot and mortally wounded Howard Davenport, colored, last Saturday. The load entered Davenport's head near the eye, and came out in the rear of the head. He cannot possibly recover. The shooting is said to have been accidental.

An Appointment.

MACON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The allied railroads, the Central and Richmond and Danville, recommended the appointment of Major Hamilton Wilkins as superintendent of repairs on the Covington and Macon road, which appointment Receiver John C. Key made, and Attorney N. E. Harris presented Major Wilkins's name to the court today, who approved of the same.

Due to Alcoholism.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Mr. W. W. Weathersbee, a furniture repairer, was found dead in bed by his wife at his home, 459 Broad street, about 7 o'clock this morning. A coroner's inquest was held, and the verdict of the jury was that his death was caused from congestion of the brain, due to alcoholism.

A Body Disinterred.

ELBERTON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Coroner Campbell disinterred the body of Tinsley A. Maloy, who died suddenly last week, on the ground that there were suspicions of poison, but all parties interested seem satisfied now that there were no good grounds for the suspicions.

To Work on the Southbound.

LINCOLNTON, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—A large force of hands, who have been working on the Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroad, passed through here today en route for Columbia, S. C., to resume work on the Southbound railroad.

TO STRIKE TODAY.

THE EXPLANATION AS TO WHY IT WILL TAKE PLACE.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Serve Notice of a Strike on Superintendent Glover.

MARIETTA, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—A committee from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers waited upon Superintendent J. B. Glover, of the Marietta and North Georgia Railroad Company, at his office in Marietta this evening, and informed him that a general strike of all the engineers on that road would take place tomorrow morning at promptly 6 o'clock.

The committee, consisting of S. H. Brewer, W. H. Thrash and I. Kendrick, made no demands upon the superintendent, but simply informed him that the strike would take place. Although the strike was not contemplated and entirely unexpected, and not made known by the committee of informers until 2 o'clock this afternoon, it will not have the effect of impeding the traffic of the road.

Superintendent Glover, always equal to the occasion, at once began active preparations to meet the strike, and has announced that new men will be on hand and ready to step into the places made vacant, and that all passenger trains will be run over the Marietta and North Georgia railroad tomorrow, as usual, on schedule time.

The coming strike on the Marietta and North Georgia was discussed in Atlanta by railroad men last night, and the discussion was a free one.

The real causes of the strike are not known, but there are several stories current touching them.

Several days ago, so one story goes, Receiver Glover discharged three engineers on the road and refused to reinstate them. Soon after the discharge Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, came to Atlanta.

This was last week.

While here he went to Marietta and had a conference with Receiver Glover, during which he attempted to have the discharged men reinstated.

Mr. Glover, however, refused to comply with Chief Arthur's request and there the matter rested until yesterday.

It is stated by the same authority that the strike which begins this morning is the result of the discharge.

Nearly all the engineers and firemen on the road are brotherhood men, and it is said that the receiver will not be able to fill their places, with members of the order at least.

The committee who called upon Mr. Glover yesterday presented a paper to which they asked his signature. He refused to sign the paper, and was then informed that that the last engineer and fireman on the road would strike.

The contents of that paper are not known.

Mr. Glover says he will never again employ one of the men who goes on the strike.

BELONGS TO GOOD SOCIETY.

The Story of a Baby Basket and Its Contents.

ALBANY, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—This city has been agog today over the finding of a basket on the doorstep of Mrs. Hooks, living in the western portion of the city, which, upon examination, was found to contain a neatly dressed and well developed blue-eyed boy baby. A placard attached to the basket indicated that the basket and its contents were intended for Mr. Davis Hooks, a son of Mrs. Hooks, who lives in the northern section of the city. The card asked Mr. Hooks to accept the child and treat it as his own, and he would be liberally rewarded. Mrs. Hooks sent the little stranger to her son, and he, having recently lost a little babe from his family circle, the foundling was met with a generous reception. In a measure his appearance seems to have been accepted as a return of his own little one. The basket in which the baby was found, contained a lot of costly baby clothes, which indicated its parents to be of the highest order of society. The parentage of the child is not known, but, from hints received by your correspondent today, the facts concerning this part of the affair may develop at any moment.

THE NEGROES WERE ENRAGED,

And Appeared Upon the Scene Fully Armed.

AMERICUS, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—The Times received a special tonight giving an account of what might have been serious trouble in Mount Vernon, Montgomery county. A white man built a house on a negro's land, which incensed the negro, who gave vent to his injuries by making threats of vengeance.

Yesterday a party of white men grew tired of the negro's insolence, and wound up by giving him a severe thrashing. The news of the whipping went like wildfire throughout the county. The negroes came into the town, 100 strong, armed with Winchester rifles, hoes, axes, picks and shovels. At one time a riot appeared unavoidable, but cool heads took the matter in charge, and later dispatches report all quiet for the present.

Dr. Crook Dropped Dead.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Rev. David C. Crook, pastor of the Methodist church in Girard, Ala., opposite Columbus, dropped suddenly dead last evening. He had gone into his yard to attempt to stop a leak in a water pipe, which was overflowing the place, and whilst stooping down suddenly fell over. His son, who was assisting him in the work, picked him up, and was shocked to find he was dead. Dr. Crook had preached in the morning, and was in perfect health apparently.

Crushed to Death.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—James M. Shumate, a car inspector of the Savannah, Florida and Western road, late of Augusta, was crushed to death today.

Captain Carroll, of the steamer Ethel, was badly cut in a dispute with a man named Hamilton today.

His Head Mashed to a Jelly.

AMERICUS, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Mr. S. K. King met a horrible death at Abbeville today. He was one of the firm of King & Co., sawmill men, and while engaged at his duties about the mill, was caught in the machinery and before aid could reach him, his head was crushed to a jelly.

Judges Exchange Circuits.

CONYERS, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Rockdale superior court convened this morning, His honor, Judge Gamble, of the Middle circuit, presiding. Judge Boynton being disqualified in certain cases to be tried, exchanged circuits with Judge Gamble. Mr. D. N. Hudson was elected foreman of the grand jury.

Burglary in Leary.

ALBANY, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—News has been received in the city today to the effect that the large mercantile establishment of Captain J. E. Boyd, at Leary, was burglarized last Saturday night, and robbed of $300 worth of merchandise.

AN OLD WAR DEBT

Is Happily Settled After Twenty-Eight Years.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Hon. D. A. Russell and wife have returned from Athens. Mr. Russell brings $5 to Mr. Len M. Griffin, lent to an old army comrade named J. G. M. Edwards, while they were prisoners of war at Point Lookout, Md., twenty-eight years ago. Mr. Edwards went from this county to the war then and, settled in Athens but could not learn anything of his old comrade until he met Mr. Russell.

MONEY ON THE HILL TOP

Because the Lands Below Are Flooded by the Heavy Rains.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—President Pat Calhoun and Secretary Groesbeck, of the North Augusta Land Company, were here today, attending a meeting in General Manager Jackson's office. They rode over across the river with Messrs. James M. and Walter Jackson, to the magnificent heights of north Augusta, and the elevation never showed to finer advantage than when looking down on the swollen river below. The bridge work is impeded, and stopped by the high water, but the company will push work on the bridge on both sides of the river as rapidly as possible.

ABOUT THE CAPITOL.

A MEETING OF THE ADVISORY BOARD CALLED

For Next Saturday to Consider the Encampment Matter—An Important Meeting of the Railroad Commission.

The governor yesterday called a meeting of the advisory board.

It is special, to consider the matter of the military encampment.

The meeting will be held in Atlanta, at the capitol, next Saturday.

Seven or eight protests, including Rome's, were received last week.

Yesterday four more were handed in.

Several of the number are telegraph messages, only five being formally drawn up in writing.

WHAT BRUNSWICK SAYS.

Captain U. Dart, of Brunswick, is quoted by The Times as making a very strong and dignified protest in the matter.

He believes that the choosing of an encampment site should be left to the military companies of the state.

"We went into the contest," he says, "under the conditions regulating the bids, but failed to receive recognition by a vote of the advisory board. We are not complaining that we failed in this particular, but we do object to the method by which the board concluded its labors; and while we claim no rights under their action, we do claim that other competing points which did secure recognition have been injured by this result. Our committee urged, and had the assurance from some members of the board, that points competing, having representation upon the board, would be urged not to vote in the selection of a site as being unjust to those not having the same advantages. The result has been clearly demonstrated by Macon's delegation voting Macon first, last and at all times. This integral influence has been felt in the final result. Coming to the actual facts, is it the people at large, the cities competing, the advisory board or the volunteer companies of the state who are most interested in this matter? The militia have kept up their organizations, by the payment of dues, purchase of uniforms and all necessary expenses, and their wishes should be consulted; for upon the satisfaction guaranteed to them depends their future enlistment, and a penurious idea of economy upon the part of the board, forcing the militia to do what may not be pleasurable or agreeable to them, may to a certain extent destroy the effective force of our state troops.

"A solution: Let the adjutant general mail notice to each company to express its choice of the sites bidding, within say ten days, and a majority of the companies voting for any one of the points, let it be selected by the board. This will relieve the board of the unpleasantness now surrounding its action, and puts upon the volunteer force of the state the responsibility of its own selection.

"It cannot be urged that by this process an injudicious selection would be made, for the board has examined all the sites, and from the information derived, they have all been pronounced good, and as they have discarded the idea of cash in the bids, and as all the points have bid the location and a sufficiency to erect the necessary buildings, it will then rest as a matter of preference with the militia and those most affected and interested in the matter."

Railroad Commission.

The railroad commission has an important meeting today.

The application of President Thomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, that the Western and Atlantic be allowed to charge 3 cents a mile for its passenger service will be argued.

The Saw Mill Association case has been postponed again.

Then the Central has been cited to show cause for its failure to carry out the circular of the commission in regard to joint rates. This case also comes up today.

THE WORK OF BOYS.

A Play Designed by Juvenile Playwrights to Be Presented Next Week.

The play "Zenonia," designed and prepared by the juvenile artists, Messrs. Philip and Earl Ackerman and Cliff Saul, will be presented at Concordia hall Friday nigat week and on Saturday afternoon and evening.

It will be given for the benefit of the Young Men's Library, and, because of the uniqueness of the affair and its purpose, a large attendance is expected.

The cast is as follows:

Tyrannus (King of Evil Spirits)—J. W. Johnson.
Count Optu—Homer Swift.
Harry, the Lover—Robert M. Clark.
Azri—E. Ackerman.
Nemar—Henry Franklin.
Murphy McFluen (an Irish Dude)—Philip Ackerman.
Navo (Clown)—Cliff M. Saul.
Manuel—Freddie Lansdell.
Xenonia (Fairy Queen)—Miss Maude Landrum.
Lala—Miss Julia Manning.
Stella—Miss True Little.

The entire production is the work of boys, no one of which has reached the age of sixteen.

In Memoriam.

At a special meeting of the Sunday school of St. Philip's church, held in the chapel March 3, 1891, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst the Rev. George M. Funsten.

In his death we mourn the loss of our leader in all good works and our inspiration for a higher and nobler life.

We recognize in him a true and noble Christian, who ever did his duty fearlessly in the sight of all men, following the commands and precepts of his Savior and walking in his footsteps. He was our sympathizer in joy, our consoler in distress and our refuge in sorrow. His works and memory will live in our hearts forever, and henceforth we will endeavor to follow his noble example and so fit ourselves, by a holier life, that we may again see his face where "There shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying; neither shall there be any more pain."

It has been our inestimable privilege to have had in our midst so pure and manly a character as Mr. Funsten. He ever lived out his teachings, and possessed that greatest of all virtues—heavenborn charity.

We are bowed down in sorrow, and 'tis almost impossible to realize that we can never again feel his warm hand clasp or hear his cheery words of welcome and encouragement; but when we think of his pure and noble life, we know that he has gone to his reward, and our sprits cast aside all sorrow and re-echo back to heaven that psean of triumhp which only such as his can make us really sing, "O death! where is thy sting! O grave! where is thy victory!"

Therefore, be it resolved, That we, the officers and teachers of St. Philip's Sunday school, desire to express to the family of our rector our tenderest sympathy in this the r bereavement. May our heavenly Father lift up his countenance upon them and give them peace.

Resolved, That ourchool room be draped for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and that copies be given the daily papers for publication, and that they also be inscribed on the minutes. Committee, T. H. Austin, A. D. Boylstin, H. J. Fear, Mrs. J. C. Almstead, Mrs. N. P. Black, Miss Minnie Force, Miss M. G. Austin, E. D. Chapman.

THOSE unhappy persons who suffer, from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents.

BETTERMENTS.

ARGUMENTS BEFORE THE COMMISSION YESTERDAY.

State Attorneys Object to Dealing with Receivers—Lessees' Counsel Oppose the Point.

The commission appointed to readjust the allowance of betterments to the old lessees of the Western and Atlantic railroad, met in the senate chamber yesterday morning and listened to the argument of the opposing counsel on a technicality, but reserved decision till today.

There were present at the meeting the full commission, consisting of Judge N. J. Hammond, Mr. J. C. C. Black, Mr. Walter B. Hill, Mr. D. T. Hughes, Mr. J. W. Warren, Captain G. A. Mercer, Mr. C. D. McCutcheon and Mr. G. Gunby Jordan.

The attorneys present for the state were Colonel Anderson, attorney general pro tem.; Mr. W. Y. Atkinson and Judge J. I. Hall. The lessees were represented by Mr. J. B. Cumming, Judge Boykin Wright and Mr. Julius L. Brown.

Of the two receivers for the old company, Colonel Stahlman and Hon. Joe Brown, the former only was present.

The question for consideration was one postponed from a previous meeting of the commission. The commission was called upon to decide whether or not the plaintiffs in the case should be the receivers or the old lessee company.

Judge Hall, for the state, argued that the company should sue the state for the amount claimed—$731,000—and as it was not doing so, but was presenting its claim through the receivers, the case should be thrown out.

Mr. Brown, who appeared for the lessees, said the receivers appointed by Judge Pardee, of the fifth judicial circuit, were the proper persons to deal with, and that the act passed at the last session of the legislature prolonging the charter of the old company for purposes of litigation was practically useless, and could not be enforced.

Major Cumming followed in a short argument for the lessees, supporting Mr. Brown's position on the question of suing through the receivers, but said that should the commission decide against it, they were perfectly willing to abide by the decision.

Colonel Anderson, for the state, directly controverted the arguments of the opposing counsel, and held that the commission should refuse to deal with the receivers and should either dismiss the case, or amend it by making the lessee company the plaintiff.

Adjournment was made without a decision, and the matter will be taken up again at 9 o'clock this morning.

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of anodynes, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an auctioneer any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."—Wm. H. Quartly, Minlaton, Australia.

"In the spring of 1853, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George R. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.

AMERICANIZED ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA.

Revised and Amended for American Readers.

Compact, Reliable, Easy for Reference.

THE ONLY ENCYCLOPÆDIA COMPLETE UP TO DATE.

This great compendium of history, biography, geography, science, art and literature is specially designed to bring before American readers in accessible shape all the valuable information contained in the great publication upon which it is based—the Ninth Edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica.

It Treats of Every Subject,

Large or small, mentioned in the original, and of several thousand topics not to be found in that work. It tells, at a length commensurate with the importance of each, of everything which the scholar, the student, the professional and business man can wish to know about. With infinite labor the rich storehouse of the original has been overhauled, its treasures of fact conserved, its wealth of material utilized.

THE AMERICANIZED ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA

Is valuable because it is accurate, because it is modern, because it has rejected the worthless and preserved the necessary, because it brings the history of science, literature, commerce, geography and discovery and the mental and moral development of the race down to the year 1890

Accounts of New and Live Subjects,

And adequate notices of recent inventions, the development of states and cities, the history of the world as it is making day by day has been added, together with 4,000 Special biographical sketches of noted personages, living and dead, brought down to date. A literary treasure beyond pride.

It Is Bound in Ten Large, Handsome Volumes,

Printed on extra fine paper, in good, clear, new type, made expressly for this work, and has NINETY-SIX COLORED MAPS, showing every country in the world, with a separate map for every state in the union, corrected and revised up to date.

The work is fully illustrated and contains nearly 14,000 columns of reading matter, and over 10,000,000 words.

The regular price of this work is $35, $40 and $45, but in order to get it introduced in the south, we make the following

Why Business Men Fail.

According to the statistics collected by Bradstreet's, the failures last year amounted to 115 in every 10,000 persons engaged in business in the United States. These failures are thus classified as to their causes:

Cause.	No.	Liabilities.
Incompetence	2,005	$ 21,545,326
Lack of experience	611	3,562,065
Lack of capital	4,052	45,809,192
Unwise granting of credits	502	7,204,055
Failures of others	257	20,790,648
Personal extravagance	242	2,626,381
Neglect of business	300	2,411,502
Competition	246	2,194,554
Disaster	1,358	42,650,814
Speculation	604	19,616,481
Fraud	416	6,612,069
Total	10,673	$175,032,834

It will be seen that lack of capital accounts for about 40 per cent of the failures, and most of the others are caused by imprudence or ignorance of business. As a rule, when a man fails in business, he has been trying to do too much, trusting too much, or spending too much, or all three.

Many merchants are anxious to carry heavy stocks to impress their competitors with the idea that they are very prosperous, and the same ambition leads them to spend more than they can afford to maintain a prominent place in society. So they overstock themselves and run into extravagance.

A happy contrast will be found in the lives of our farmers, after making due allowance for their burdens and difficulties. It is true that some farmers buy too much and spend too much. Some start with too little capital, and others never learn how to run a farm. Many of them attempt to do too much. All this may be admitted, and still the fact stands out that farming is a much safer and more independent occupation than that of a merchant. Farmers rarely fail. Even when they are unfortunate they struggle along, pay a higher interest than anybody else, and yet manage to live. They do not go with their families to starve in tenement houses, as many broken-down merchants do in our large cities. They are not likely to accumulate big fortunes, but on the other hand they escape the worry and nervous excitement of the merchants whose business is subject to numerous risks, to say nothing of competition and disastrous panics.

Of course, these reflections will not prevent farmers from selling out and moving to town to engage in trade. They will go their own way. But the statistics here presented concerning the causes of business failures will suggest something that may be profitable to them.

A Broken Reed.

It is surprising that republican newspapers, in casting about for a presidential candidate, have utterly ignored Mr. Thomas B. Reed, late speaker of the house of representatives.

While Reed was in the height of his glory, and shaking the galleries with the thunder of his gavel, these newspapers were indirectly booming him as the next republican president. But now it is different. The name of the Maine bully is never mentioned in that connection.

And yet the republican party is at sea for a presidential candidate. It is all "broken up," so to speak, on that issue. Hundreds of names have been mentioned, always omitting Reed's, but as yet the party is adrift, without a possible leader.

Reed's boom has died a natural death. At one time it seemed to be a toss-up between Harrison and the Main monstrosity, but both were relegated to the rear, as burdens that even the republican party could not carry.

Reed's day is done. Factions in his own party are arrayed against him. He can be useful in doing its rough work hereafter, but he has climbed as high as he will ever go. He is as thoroughly retired as if he were moping in the rear with McKinley and the rest of the back numbers. So may it be.

Trying to Save His Honor.

Sir Charles Dilke's bold fight for his former place in public life is beginning to excite sympathy.

Here is a strong man, distinguished as a statesman and a writer, who, a few years ago, by the testimony of a characterless woman, was hurled down from his high place, and driven into exile, suffering under the weight of the condemnation of all England. After enduring the scorn of his countrymen for years he now comes to the front as a candidate for parliament, and, in a pamphlet, reviews his case, showing that legal technicalities operated against him, and left him at the mercy of an unscrupulous woman. The pamphlet shows that Dilke's sister-in-law and her sister were in the conspiracy against him, and that they fabricated a monstrous tissue of lies. By thus inviting libel suits Sir Charles may get into the courts again, and show up his side of the case.

In this brief outline it is impossible to present the points now brought forward by this unfortunate man to prove his innocence, but the pamphlet has won for him a host of friends. The prince of Wales has publicly recognized him, and many of the best people in England declare him to be a greatly wronged man.

There is a general anxiety to see Sir Charles vindicate himself. His brilliant talents are needed in his country's service, and, if it be true that his brother's widow maliciously conspired to ruin him by false testimony, no sentimental considerations should induce him to shield her. Better let a thousand lying women suffer exposure than let one good and brilliant man go down under a cloud, robbed of his honor, and all that makes life worth living. That is the way to look at it.

Editor Dana's Visit to Atlanta.

Undoubtedly the most famous American journalist now living is Mr. Charles A. Dana, the editor and proprietor of The New York Sun.

Mr. Dana has distinguished himself in many lines of thought and action. He has established and maintained the model newspaper of the country. He is a master of style, a man of affairs, a scientist, a traveler, and a scholar, familiar with the languages and the literature of many lands.

This busy journalist has found time in the midst of his labors to edit the "American Cyclopedia," the work in itself of a lifetime. He has edited other volumes that are among the treasures of our literature. No bolder, brainier, more cultured writer can be found among the newspaper workers of our day.

In the columns of The Sun, Mr. Dana for many years past has made it a labor of love to champion the rights of the south, and present her advantages and resources in the most favorable light. It is only natural that he should desire to get better acquainted with our people, and his trip through several southern states this week will give him the desired opportunity.

Mr. Dana will reach Atlanta Thursday morning, and will spend the day here, leaving in the evening for Brunswick. During his stay in our city he will be made to feel at home. No visitor could receive a heartier welcome, and our citizens will take pleasure in making their guest realize the fact that he is among his friends and admirers.

A Hint to the Southwest.

The prevalence of smallpox in many southwestern localities this winter has caused general alarm, and has seriously interfered with business.

In Texas, cities and towns have been quarantined, and persons attempting to leave them have been forced back by pickets armed with shotguns. All the incidents of a yellow fever scare have been repeated, and thoughtful people are beginning to look forward to smallpox as an epidemic greatly to be dreaded in future.

Now, for a few facts. In Montreal smallpox frequently makes a disastrous visitation. The large French population will not submit to vaccination. Over the frontier in the large northern cities, Boston and New York, for instance, the disease is not feared because vaccination is compulsory. In Germany the average death rate from smallpox is 110 in 100,000, while in France it is 14,000. Vaccination is strictly enforced in the former country and not in the latter.

The cities and towns of the southwest will do well to heed the lesson contained in these facts and figures. Vaccination is decidedly more pleasant than smallpox, and people should be compelled by the authorities to undergo it in every place where the pest threatens to become epidemic.

Vexing the People.

New York has had a compulsory educational law on her statute books seventeen years.

This law has never been enforced, and the reason given for such apparent negligence is that it is not sufficiently backed by public opinion.

In the face of this state of affairs an effort will be made to get the present legislature to pass a similar compulsory educational bill. The new measure provides that all children between the ages of seven and eleven must attend a school or be taught at home every day that the public schools are in session. Children over eleven and under fourteen must attend school at least fourteen weeks a year. Suitable penalties are provided for the violation of the law by parents and guardians.

The experience of seventeen years with the existing law should warn the New York statesmen that it will not do in this free country for the state to attempt to abolish the old-fashioned Daddy. It may be unpleasant to admit, but it is nevertheless a fact, that parents have a right to control their children, and they can keep them out of school all the time if they feel so inclined. In many communities there are large numbers of wretchedly poor people, who cannot keep body and soul together without the labor of their children. A compulsory school law would drive these unfortunates into crime or vagrancy, or the state would have to complete its educational scheme by coming to the relief of the poorer class of citizens.

The whole business is so impracticable and objectionable that all experiments in that direction should be vigorously opposed from the start. The less the state has to do with family government the better for all concerned.

Depew on Editorials.

Mr. Chauncey Depew is reported as saying that people have no time to read editorials.

This haphazard remark was altogether too sweeping. The speaker might just as well have said that people have no time to read newspapers.

The truth is, people have no time to read some newspapers and some editorials, but they find time to read what is worth reading, when it is presented attractively in the proper shape.

In this busy, rushing, electric age men can not afford to waste precious moments over long-winded essays and padded leaders. But an editorial or an article that is crisp, condensed, full of meat and to the point is read by everybody. Such editorials may be found in all the brightest and most progressive newspapers of the day. They deal only to a limited extent with opinions, speculations and reflections. As a rule they merely comment upon or elucidate current news. This makes them invaluable to readers who can not investigate for themselves, and Mr. Depew's speeches show that he has for many years been a close reader of this branch of newspaper literature.

People have no time to read a three-column editorial, when the facts and ideas in it might just as well have been boiled down into a fourth of that space. This may be what Mr. Depew means. In these days of hurry and worry, if you have anything to say in a speech, cut it short. If you must talk or write, cut it short. In other words, condense, boil down, squeeze!

JOHNNY DAVENPORT'S novel is probably from the pen of John Sherman.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW still thinks that he has a Chauncey to be nominated by the republicans for president.

THERE ARE three or four county papers printed in Brooklyn, and they kick up a terrible row every now and then. Mr. Halstead edits one, and the other three are edited by men who know as little about the business as men ought to know.

THE AUGUSTA CHRONICLE has reduced its price of subscription. THE CONSTITUTION has a great many followers, but no competitors.

IF THE country lasts 200 or 300 years John Sherman will be president. And if he fails, Brother Blaine will be if the people conclude to elect him.

ONE OF the country papers of Brooklyn is very much disturbed because Governor Hill is to be invited to Georgia again. Governor Hill, being a democrat, is practically at home when he comes to Georgia.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

JAMES H. BLOUNT, JR., a son of Congressman Blount, of Georgia, has a notable article on "The Farmers' Alliance," in Blue and White, a paper published by the students of Columbia College, New York. Mr. Blount is in the law department of this institution, and his talents and attainments are of such a high order that it is safe to say he will be heard from in the near future. Mr. Blount sees so much pure democracy in the alliance that he predicts early and long continued democratic rule if the leaders of the alliance and the leaders of the democracy are wise enough to make the most of their community of interest and their fundamental principles.

THE DECISION of the directors of a woman's club in Washington city to admit a quadroon school teacher bids fairs to break up the society. Miss Desha, a sister-in-law of Congressman Breckinridge, of Kentucky, leads the other southern ladies in the club in objecting to the admission of the colored girl. The trouble was caused by the woman suffragists, who, to be true to their doctrine of equality, had to advocate the admission of negroes.

JOHN PRATT, of Danbury, Conn., is sixty years old, and during his whole life he has never spoken aloud to anybody except his brother. With him he talks freely. He has been married twice, but never talked to his wives, always communicating with them in writing. No one has ever been successful in making him speak, as he is always on his guard. He is an intelligent man, and manages his affairs successfully. Even his own brother is unable to account for his singular conduct. Why a man who is capable of talking should hold his tongue all his life is a mystery.

WE HAVE an idiotic American custom of prefixing "Hon." to the names of a lot of fellows who never held a public office. It would be just as sensible to call every civilian "Colonel." When Horace Greely was in London in 1851 his name was printed with the prefix "Hon." before it, and a critic in The Edinburgh Review made merry over it. This stirred up Greely, and he wrote in reply: "The aristocratic appellation which the critic sneers at is one which I had no hand in concocting, and which I do not see that I am called to justify. If he will tell me how to prevent the prefixing by others of a handle to my name most distasteful to me, I will be much obliged to him. The prefix 'Hon.' I reject and detest."

A NEW YORK fashion writer says: "You must have a Cleopatra niche, get yourself up a la Egypt and do the serpent of old Nile act or you will certainly be at the tail of the procession. First the nook. Select the darkest corner or recess of your drawing room, curtain it off with oriental, Persian or Moorish draperies. Have a broad, low, luxurious couch built in this nook, which must be covered with Bagdad portieres and piled high with cushions of all shapes and sizes, which must shake out honey in wafts of sandalwood, attar of roses or any other eastern, Haroun al Raschid, or Thousand and one Nights' perfume. There must be a low table with a collection of sphinxes, scarabel and any other Egyptian curios you can scare up. There must be a swinging Moorish lamp with many-colored stones, and if you can borrow a mummy from some museum, the niche will be complete. Now, as to yourself. Take off your corsets and all possible underclothing. Buy some gold or silver embroidered stuffs, or a brocaded table cover might do. Swathe and fold it about your hips and fasten with jeweled pins, buckles or chains. Your "torso" (see Gertrude Franklin Atherton) needs very little attention. A quarter of a yard of fluff and a necklace will be sufficient. Cover your arms with bracelets and armlets. Bare your feet and slip on sandals. Smear your toe and finger nails with bright scarlet. Put a ring on each thumb. As you cannot get a lotos flower, take any long, pink, floppy blossom in your right hand. Now, remember your Delsarte and hop and sprawl in your most languid and fetching attitude. Sniff at your pink blossom and talk in a dreamy, die-away voice, and keep your eyes half shut. If possible turn the conversation on serpents and love, and imagine you are living in Memmen, and there you are—straight from the pyramids, warranted fresh from the Nile, absolutely the latest and most poetic fad."

MISSING LINKS.

The Tallapoosa Dispatch has closed its first volume and enters hopefully upon another year.

The editors of The Cumming Clarion and The Alpharetta Free Pree are indulging in a little hair-pulling. It takes the Georgia editors to make the fur fly.

Tennyson received $10 a word for his latest spring poem. This provokes the following from a disappointed author:

Some of these Georgia papers
Have thought my prices high;
But when I write a thing like that,
I'll lay me down and die.

And then there will be one poet less in a grateful country!

The Cumming Clarion announces that it is "just sweet fifteen," and that it has done fifteen years of unremitting labor for its county. The paper is in a prosperous condition.

Editor Underwood has invited the Georgia editors to Camilla, where he says they will get well water and sardines in abundance. He will also make a speech to them and will not require them to publish it afterwards.

There is a movement on foot to elect Editor Hanlon president of the Tampa and Quitman road.

The Hustler of Rome is a new arrival in north Georgia journalism. And it appears to carry out the suggestion of its name admirably.

Hon. John Temple Graves, who is in the city, has been out of the newspaper business for some time, but the pleasure of looking over exchanges is so great that he subscribes to all the leading newspapers in the country, and has a newspaper office wherever he goes.

Editor Steadman, of The Lithonia New Era, who is the tallest editor in the state, will introduce Editor Gunn at the Georgia Chautauqua, but declares that his responsibility ceases with the introduction. The public will please take notice.

THE SOUTHERN BOX FACTORY MAKES AN ASSIGNMENT.

Mr. G. V. Gress Is Made Assignee, and Will Keep the Factory Going So as to Wind Up the Business.

The Southern Box Factory has made an assignment.

The cause leading to this action is the lack of money to continue the business.

The deed of assignment was filed in the office of the clerk of superior court yesterday morning.

Mr. G. V. Gress is the assignee, and with careful management the business will be made to pay out.

Most the creditors are residents of the city of Atlanta. The indebtedness, which, in round numbers, amounts to about $10,000, is in notes and accounts.

There are notes of preferred creditors amounting to a little more than $700, and accounts of the same sort that run up to a little over $400, making in all between $1,100 and $1,200 preferred.

The remainder of the indebtedness is in notes and accounts, none of which are very large, so that no individual creditor will suffer heavily.

The factory is still running, Mr. Gress having assumed charge of the business, and as the factory supplies a number of large establishments, among which are the Atlanta glass works, the S. S. S. company, Block's candy factory and others whose demands are pressing and continuous, Mr. Gress has deemed it the best policy to keep the work going.

Mr. Gress thinks that a satisfactory arrangement may be made with the creditors, and that all the liabilities will be settled in due season

The assets consist of the buildings and machinery, with an unexpired lease on the two acres of land, at the corner of Glenn and Humphreys streets, where the factory is located.

The Southern Box Factory was established May 1, 1886, Mr. J. H. Mecaslin being first president of the company.

He signed for the lease of the property for a period of ten years, so that the lease expires May 1, 1896.

Mr. J. W. Baum has been treasurer and manager. The factory has had a grand run of business, and is now turning out a lot of work. Finding that it was not able to continue business, as the declaration states, for lack of funds, the only fair and honorable course was to turn the property over to the creditors.

Mr. Gress will call a meeting of the creditors, at as early a day as possible, and lay the whole matter before them.

The assets are figured at as much as $18,000.

Colonel Baum's trouble will cause all who know him to regret it deeply. Since coming to Atlanta he has made many friends, and he deserves every one of them, for they were made by his manly conduct, fair dealings and square work. No business man in Atlanta has more friends than Colonel Baum, and every one will be glad to see him safely extricated from his financial troubles. If hard work and honesty can pull him through he will come out all right.

GOSSIP IN THE STATE.

The recent memorial adopted by the Hebrews of Chicago and presented to the president, asking that the government use its influence to have Palestine restored to the Jews, has excited the superstition of ignorant people. It is feared that it will be instrumental in creating some religious excitement in Liberty county, in this state, where the negroes are always on the qui vive for some new religious fad. A gentleman who has recently traveled in that section says that several white persons, who had read the account in the newspapers, firmly believe that it is a sign that the end of the world is near, and a number of negroes who had been informed of it declared that they would cease praying neither day nor night until the Jews had returned to Palestine, when they were sure the world would come to an end. Liberty county is famous for its negro superstitions. A religious frenzy breaks out among the negroes there annually.

The fishing has opened in Decatur county. Mr. Tom Speight fairly inaugurated it with the following story: He was in a small boat, fishing for trout. He had scarcely cast his line in the water when two large trout leaped towards it and impaled themselves upon the steel hooks. He then relates that, while struggling to get the fish in, vast numbers of trout, attracted by the beauty of the bait and the commotion in the water, rushed around the boat and would have upset it had not the boatman seized the paddle and beat them off.

The Augusta Weekly Sentinel, organ of the colored people, calls upon negroes in every locality to "organize vigilant societies for self-protection, not counting their lives dear unto them." A society with a more peaceful object than this was organized recently in a county in this state. It is a society composed entirely of negroes, and its object is the reformation of reckless characters among the negroes, and the prevention of the crimes for which they sometimes suffer.

The farmers of Habersham county are going into the tobacco-planting business on a large scale. They are confident that it will add many thousand dollars to their yearly income. Colonel M. C. Wilcox, of Mt. Airy, has placed in the hands of H. M. Payne and the editor of The Toccoa News some tobacco seed of choice variety to be distributed to farmers who will plant and cultivate it in the best manner and with the greatest care. The object is to ascertain the possibilities of that region for raising tobacco of superior varieties, which will command good prices. Should the result this year show that good tobacco can be raised in the county, there will be no difficulty in establishing factories and making a home market for all that can be raised.

The people of Harmony Grove were greatly excited recently over the discovery of bullet holes in the sides of the schoolhouse. Shooting had been heard at night, and the next day the school house was found to be riddled with bullets in one section. The result was that a number of boys, supposed to be the guilty parties were arrested and marched before the grand jury. But it is not definitely known who did the shooting.

The citizens of Milledgeville are sensitive on the subject of the state asylum. When a person is adjudged insane the newspapers invariably say that he or she "will be sent to Milledgeville." The following addressed by The Milledgeville Chronicle to The Americus Recorder, will be of interest in this connection. The editor is evidently angry:

When you find it necessary to have some of your half-witted, bobtail citizens incarcerated in a "lunatic asylum," don't say that "he was sent to Milledgeville." The name Milledgeville does not apply to a prison, an asylum, or a place where insane patients are treated. However, there is a legal postoffice two miles from Milledgeville, out of her limits, named Asylum, where people of unsound mind are received and cared for. It has a postmaster, railway station, and is entitled to that distinction. Many patients stop there and never enter Milledgeville, as it is not necessary to even pass through the city en route to Asylum.

Remember this, please, and when you have cause to chronicle such a sad misfortune to your citizens, state that "they were adjudged insane and sent to the asylum" (or lunatic asylum), and not to Milledgeville. The above is also referred to other state papers, who may not know that Milledgeville is one of the prettiest, most intelligent and prosperous cities in the state, and not a prison cell for castaway lunatics.

The story of the wreck of the schooner Marion Mansen, of Savannah, in the gulf stream recently, is full of thrilling interest. The schooner sailed from Savannah, Wednesday, February 25th, for Santiago de Cuba, with a crew of eight men. On the night of the 26th she encountered a heavy gale, and during that night one of the sailors fell from the rigging to the deck, breaking his arm and sustaining other injuries. The vessel's deck load, consisting of about 140,000 feet of lumber, was partly thrown overboard, and the balance on deck was washed over the vessel's sides. The gale continued with unabated fury, and the vessel bore up for Tybee. She filled so rapidly that the crew was compelled to abandon the deck, and all took to the top of the after cabin, where they suffered from the exposures of the cold and gale without clothing and no means of cooking their food. They subsisted on raw ham und potatoes and biscuit, some of which was ruined by salt water. The schooner ran into another heavy gale off the coast Friday morning, but finally succeeded in working into the outer roads and anchoring, where the Cynthia found her Saturday morning. The crew are weak and exhausted from their rigorous experience, but consider themselves lucky to get into port again, much less to have the vessel safe under them.

The boys of Brunswick are becoming warmed up on the subject of baseball. There are twelve or fourteen first-class players there, who have already expressed their intention of playing this season. There are now located in Brunswick members of the different college teams, also members of teams from large cities. Interest in the national game is growing every day. Editor Sam Whitmire, of The Times, is said to be one of the best curve pitchers in the state, and he will probably take a hand in the season's sport.

Some time ago a traveler had an exciting experience in a Lee county hotel. On the day of the arrival of the traveler, who was a music teacher, the proprietor of the hotel had purchased a live wildcat which had been caught in a trap in the Muckalee swamp. That night the beast was chained in the yard, and when the last guest had retired to rest the proprietor went through the halls to put out the lights. These lights worked with a chain, and in moving them up and down considerable noise was made. This was heard by the music teacher and sounded very much like the growling of a wild beast. It did not cease, but seemed to come nearer and nearer. The music teacher was convinced that the wildcat had escaped and was dragging its chain through the house. He stood it as long as possible, but remembering that he had left his door ajar, became greatly excited, and as the noise grew louder, he sprang from the bed, made a dash for the window in his night clothes and jumped to the ground. The proprietor saw him, and thinking that he was about to jump his board bill, made a break for him, the town marshal joining in the chase. They ran him nearly a mile down the railroad track, when, thinking that the wildcat was close at his heels, and being unable to run farther, the music teacher climbed a tree and was captured.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Street Improvements.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION:—A great deal has been said and written about certain portions of the city being neglected in the way of street improvements. I was informed by a prominent city official that all this was uncalled for and out of place. His reasons were:

"1. The sidewalks are put down by the city on petition from the property owners, but they had to pay for said improvements, except what grading was done by the city to put the streets in proper shape.

"2. That belgian blocks were put down by the city, and the property owners had to pay for two-thirds of same.

"3. That neither one could be done without the property owners signing a petition to have the work done and furnishing same to the councilmen from their ward.

"4. That the council was ready to comply with the city's part of the work whenever the property owners were ready to petition and pay their part."

If this be true then who is at fault?

Then he further stated that few petitions were received as the law requires from these so-called neglected sections.

Again that the place called Bushville consisted of about thirty acres, after the streets are graded out at the expense of $700, appropriated by city. Examine the taxbooks next year and see the increased taxes paid by reason of this appropriation. That where $2,000 was passed up to pay for belgian block on the north side, two-thirds was collected back from property-owners. In this case, which side of town gets the most city money—Bushville $700, or the north side? It is true the north side gets the best streets, but she pays for it, and the fifth ward or any other section will get some if they will petition for the work and pay their prorato part. If this is true, then who is at fault? Property owners should examine the law before they condem the city fathers for not doing their duty. The question now is are the property owners ready, if so, then let them comply with the law and do their part before another rainy spell of weather sets in. I state the case as I understand to be correct. CITIZEN.

That Postoffice Elevator.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 9, 1891—Editor Constitution: Your issue of today contains an item headed "Postoffice Elevator," which is calculated to do injustice to and reflect discredit on the contractors, Messrs. Thomas & Driscoll, for whom it has been my pleasure and privilege to act as superintendent. The item referred to represents, first, that the contractors agreed first to furnish an Otis elevator, and afterwards changed their minds and ordered an inferior make from a Cincinnati concern. Permit me to very respectfully contradict the assertion, and pardon me for stating that the author of the item must have been absolutely ignorant of the real facts. The general specification on which the contract was based reads: "The following specification is intended to describe in general terms what will be required. Nothing in this description, however, is intended to express a preference for any particular manufacture." Thomas & Driscoll were never bound by any contract or specification to furnish any particular make of elevator, but aimed and intended to furnish what they considered the best and latest improved work, and in selecting "the Warner" they acted conscienciously and for the best interests of the government. An influence was, however, brought to bear on the powers that be to reject "the Warner" in favor of "the Otis," hence the anxiety so clearly manifest. Personally I have no interest in the matter whatever. The contract is about filled on the part of the contractors, and I am going to try to establish a lasting, creditable business reputation in Atlanta, and hope the firm with which I have so long been pleasantly, and I trust creditably, connected will not be acceptably misrepresented, knowing as I do that their sole aim and object is to comply with their contract and maintain their long and well-earned business reputation. Very respectfully, GEO. W. HARRISON, Superintendent for Thomas & Driscoll.

Observation Parties.

From The Iowa State Register.

"Observation parties are the latest thing in society. An observation party affords a great deal of amusement, and, in addition, displays the fact that few persons are good observers or have good memories. The members of the observation party are asked by the host to observe the furnishings of the dinner table, for instance. Then they are given five minutes to write down a list of the articles that are on the table. The person whose memory is best and who can write down within the prescribed time—five minutes, say—the larger number of articles on the table is awarded some sort of a prize

PEOPLE HERE AND THERE.

LEWIS.—Tobe Lewis, a colored man in the county workhouse of Hamilton county, Tennessee, claims to be one hundred and thirty-seven years old, and has documents to show that he is over one hundred and twenty.

HOWARD.—General Howard will revise the biography of General Sherman, shortly to be published by Hubbard Brothers, of Philadelphia, and write an introduction for it. The author is W. Fletcher Johnson, of New York.

CHILDS.—George W. Childs instructed his assistant editors many years ago never to let any witticism which reflected on women creep into the columns of The Ledger.

DE LESSEPS.—De Lesseps is now eghty-six years old. At eighty he was a rugged, enthusiastic and vigorous octogenarian, but since the collapse of his great Panama canal scheme he has aged and broken perceptibly.

KIPLING.—Mr. Jephson, Stanley's lieutenant, relates this experience with young Rudyard Kipling: "It was at a little tea, and Mr. Kipling, as usual, was monopolizing the conversation, and it was 'I' this and 'I' that—all 'I! I! I!' Well, finally, he said to the party sitting beside him, but loud enough for us all to hear, as usual: 'Madam, I was recently asked a most extraordinary question by a lady, and I thought it was a very peculiar question to ask me, but she said: "Mr. Kipling, why are you such a prig?"' Well, as you can well imagine, there was a dead silence, for every one was thinking the same thing. Then one dropped his napkin or a spoon, or spilled some wine to make a commotion, for no one really knew what to say."

IN THE CITY HALL.

THE OFFICERS HAVE A QUIET, EASY DAY OF IT.

The Bridge Committee Is Getting More Important—The Coming Session of the Council.

The city hall was quiet yesterday.

Apart from the called meeting of the general council, but little was done.

Some of the committeemen, however, are hard at work on their pet schemes.

Forsyth Street Bridge.

Mr. Turner, chairman of the bridge committee, grows more impatient each day at the delay of the chief engineer of the Central in returning the plans for the Forsyth street bridge.

The patience of the committee is almost exhausted.

"I look upon the delay as entirely unnecessary," said Mr. Turner yesterday, "and unless we hear from the engineer pretty soon, or are shown some reasonable cause for delay, we will take the bull by the horns. We have two plans for the bridge—one being with supports, the other a truss bridge. If we can't build the bridge with supports, then we will construct the truss bridge. The Central's engineer knows all this, too, and he should not keep us waiting."

"When will you begin work?"

"That's too hard to answer just now. If we could hear tomorrow from that engineer we would advertise at once for bids, and then award the contract when the bids come in. Work would, of course, commence as soon as the successful bidder could get at it."

To Meet Next Monday.

The general council will convene in regular session next Monday.

The meeting promises to be an interesting one.

Mr. Woodward, who opposed the ordinance creating a purchasing agent, will open the fight again by attempting to secure the reconsideration of the action of the last meeting. The friends of the ordinance, however, appear as firm in their adherance to it as Mr. Woodward is in his opposition.

The Forsyth street bridge will be brought up by the chairman of the bridge committee, too, unless the Central railroad authorities are heard from before the meeting. The report of the street committee and city engineer on the Nelson street bridge will be considered, too.

Still in the Field.

The board of assessors are still in the field assessing property.

The members find the work much harder than it was last year, and are compelled to give more time to it.

Where a piece of property was assessed to one man last year, the board finds that it has been divided into many lots, and that each lot has an owner.

This is hard on the assessors, but good for Atlanta, as it indicates more home owners than there were a year ago.

The Grady Hospital.

Chairman Hirsch, of the Grady hospital committee, will begin a thorough canvass of the city today for money for the hospital.

Nothing was done yesterday because several members of the committee were absent from the city. But today the work will begin in earnest, and will be pushed without rest until the necessary amount is raised.

Hard on the Workmen.

The water commissioner's pay roll last week made a poor showing for the hands who work in the city.

The heavy, constant rains prevented them from putting in much time.

Of the twenty-five men who are employed by the board, none of them drew over $2.75 for the week's work, while the pay of some ran as low as 15 cents.

TALKING ABOUT DEAD TOWNS.

Captain C. T. Furlow grew reminiscent yesterday, from reading Colonel C. C. Jones's work, "Dead Towns of Georgia."

"When we moved to Gunter county in 1849," said he, "the principal town in the county was Danville. Circuses would skip Americus to go to Danville, and in the number of inhabitants and amount of business done it overshadowed Americus. It never was the county seat, however, and probably that's what saved Americus. Sumter was created by an act of the legislature in '31, and Americus was laid out in '32.

"Danville promised to be a big place. It had 300 to 400 inhabitants, and that was something notable in that section of the state at that time. Americus, at seventeen years old, had less than 200.

"Danville boomed. A. G. Butts, now living in Macon, and his brother, J. R. Butts, who is dead now, back in the 40's, built a river steamer called the Magnolia, and everybody thought that settled Americus. J. R. Butts, I remember, published a big map of Georgia. Danville was on the Flint river, and it put on big airs when the Magnolia was built.

"Of course the railroad made Americus.

"Danville reached its zenith about 1850, and then it steadily declined, while Americus forged ahead. Danville continued a postoffice, however, until '60 or '61, and even after the war there were a few people living there. About the last thing to go was a barroom, but that went in time. Today it would be hard for a stranger to find the site of this old town. Not a single house is left, and very few and very dim landmarks of any sort.

"In '49, when Danville was about its best, there wasn't a single brick house in Sumter county, and very few brick chimneys. My father, T. M. Furlow, built the first brick house in the county, and it would be hard for this younger generation to understand what a curiosity it was. It was a one-story brick store in Americus.

"In another forty years, Americus will have forgotten that she ever had a rival in Sumter, or near there; and even the name of Danville will be forgotten."

SOCIETY NOTES.

Miss Essie Haas, who has been spending the winter in Atlanta, as the guest of Mrs. Jacob Haas, on Washington street, returns to her home this week.

The masquerade ball, held annually by the young people, in celebration of Purim, the Jewish holiday, will not take place this month as originally intended.

Mrs. Joseph Hirsch and daughter, Miss Lula, and Mrs. Henry Hirsch returned last night from Washington, where they have been attending a silver wedding.

Miss Stella R. Laird, the pretty and genial postmistress at LaGrange, is visiting her uncle at 63 Fraser street, much to the delight of her many friends.

The marriage of Miss Berta Regenstein to Mr. Sam Einstein, will take place tomorrow evening at the residence of the bride, on Loyd street, near Garnett. The young lady, formerly of Columbus O., very recently made Atlanta her home, but during her short residence here has won a host of friends. The groom is equally popular.

Mrs. Emil Selig and family, formerly of Atlanta, but who have been living in Rome, Ga., for some time, returned to this city yesterday, to remain permanently.

Mrs. Vernon Leman, nee Miss Kittie Sloan, of Houston, Tex., is in the city, the guest of Mrs. H. B. Bostick.

CHAIRMAN ENGLISH.

HE IS AGAIN RE-ELECTED BY THE BOARD.

The Police Commission Meets and Organizes. The Salaries of the Men Agreed Upon. The New Members In.

Off with the old and on with the new.

That was the order at the meeting of the board of police commissioners last night.

Commissioners Brown and Stephens stepped down and out.

Commissioners Gramling and Laird walked up and in.

Captain J. W. English was re-elected chairman of the board.

Mr. Laird, one of the new members, was made secretary, and Commissioner Brotherton was complimented by being chosen chairman pro tem. of the board.

Then as to salaries. Here are the recommendations:

Chief, $2,000 per year.
Captains, $1,200.
Sergeants, $900.
Station keeper $900.
Patrolmen, $2 per day.
A chief detective at, approximately, $1,200 a year, and detailed detectives at $2.50 per day.

These are the pointers of the meeting.

The Old Board Adjourns.

When Chairman English rapped for order, there were seated around the long table in the chief's office Commissioner Brotherton, Brown, Stephens, Lester and His Honor Mayor Hemphill, ex-officio member, besides Chairman English himself.

"The secretary will please read the minutes of the last meeting," said Chairman English.

This Secretary Stephens proceeded to do, as he has done for the past three years.

Seated in the office were Messrs. Gramling and Laird, the incoming commissioners, Councilman Turner, Alderman Woodward and Chief Connolly.

After Secretary Stephens had read the neatly written minutes, he laid the familiar books upon the table, removed his gold-rimmed spectacles, and glancing around at each of the assembled commissioners, remarked:

COMMISSIONER STEPHENS RETIRES.

"What's writ is writ. My books are closed, the record is made up and my work on this board must be judged by that record. I am willing to be so judged."

COMMISSIONER BROWN STEPS DOWN.

As commissioner Stephens concluded, Commissioner Brown arose.

"I do not know just what my colleague wishes me to say," he began, "except to move the adjournment of this board.

"But, since I am upon my feet, there are two or three things which I will take the liberty of directing the attention of the board to—things which have occupied the board for the improvement of the department during my three years' connection with it."

Mr. Brown then referred at some length to the increased efficiency of the force by the increased number of sergeants, which had not only been beneficial to the force, alone, but to the city.

He spoke of the inauguration of the eight-hour system, and the introduction of the police signal system, which is now nearly in operation, and other things for the advancement of the force during his connection with the board.

Chairman English declared the old board adjourned. In doing so he referred in the highest terms to the services of the retiring commissioners and the pleasant relations existing on the board.

Captain English also referred in a complimentary manner to Messrs. Gramling and Laird, the incoming commisioners.

Commissioner Stephens and Brown then shook hands all around, and retired.

The New Board.

After a few moments, Captain English called the new board to order.

Mr. Laird took Mr. Stephens's chair and Mr. Gramling sat down in that vacated by Mr. Brown.

"The first thing in order," said Captain English, "is the election of a chairman."

"I nominate for chairman of this board Captain J. W. English," said Commissioner Brotherton, rising.

"I second the nomination," said Mr. Gramling, taking hold of affairs from the jump.

Captain English was unanimously elected to the chairmanship of the board.

After a few well-spoken words of thanks for the confidence the board had manifested in him by making him chairman, and dwelling upon the responsibilities of the position, asking the confidence and co-operation of his fellow-commissioners, Chairman English said:

"The election of a secretary is next in order."

Commissioner Lester was nominated by Commissioner Gramling.

Mr. Lester declined, and nominated Commissioner Laird, which nomination Captain Brotherton seconded, and Mr. Laird was elected.

"Now, I desire to nominate Commissioner Brotherton for chairman pro tem.," said Mr. Laird. He was elected unanimously.

Just here Mayor Hemphill stated that both Commissioner Laird and Gramling had qualified before him.

GETTING TO BUSINESS.

The new board then got down to regular business.

Chief Connolly presented the resignation of Sergeant Curtright, who was under charges.

After the resignation had been read, Chairman English asked that the charges be read also, as it was regular.

Secretary Laird read the charges and specifications, and then Sergeant Curtright made a brief statement.

"I move the resignation be accepted," said Commissioner Laird.

Councilman Turner addressed the board briefly, stating that he was by Lieutenant Cutright's side in the stormy war scenes in Virginia, and had never known a braver or more honorable man.

The question was put.

Chairman English was the only commissioner who voted not to receive it.

Supernumerary B. G. Bivens was presented for being under the influence of liquor. He was dismissed from the force.

Patrolman A. P. Baldwin was tried for conduct unbecoming an officer. The charges against him were dismissed.

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATIONS.

After hearing the regular reports from the chief, the board took up a resolution offered by Commissioner Brotherton, asking the council to make an additional appropriation of $2,500 for the purpose of raising salaries of officers and creating a detective department.

The resolution provided for the salaries as presented in the introduction of this story.

Commissioners Laird and Lester thought the chief's salary should be $2,500, but this sentiment did not prevail.

This resolution will be presented at the next meeting of council.

TO LOOK FOR LICENSES.

Mayor Hemphill introduced a resolution providing that it shall be the duty of policemen to inspect all licenses on their beat each month and report to their superior officer and then to the chief. The policemen are not required to go into saloons.

The resolution passed.

THE GOVERNOR'S HORSE GUARDS.

The Action of the Advisory Board Will Decide Where They Go.

The Governor's Horse Guards have not as yet received a formal invitation from Captain W. W. Gordon to attend an encampment of the cavalry companies of the state at Savannah.

But Savannah, through Adjutant-General Kell, has asked the Guard to express an opinion as to such an encampment.

And to say whether or not the company is to attend.

This request was made some time ago, and at a called meeting, the Guards, by unanimous vote, endorsed the movement, and expressed a willingness to attend.

Many of the members of the company are anxious to go to Savannah, as the dates fixed, April 27th to May 2d, is at a time when a much larger number could go into camp than later in the season, when many of the members of the company are out of the city.

It will be impossible for the Guards to attend the general encampment of the state troops and go to Savannah, too, but they will abide by what the advisory board may have to say.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNCIL

Called to Consider the Damage Done on Nelson Street.

A special meeting of the council was held yesterday to consider the damage done by the falling in of a wall near Nelson street bridge, and decide what should be done about it.

This communication was read from Mayor Hemphill, explaining the call.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 9, 1891.—To the Members of the General Council. Gentlemen: I have called your body together for the purpose of devising means of repairing damages done to Nelson street, near the bridge. I submit report of City Engineer Clayton for your consideration. Very respectfully, W. A. HEMPHILL, Mayor.

What Caused It.

This communcation from City Engineer Clayton was read:

ATLANTA, Ga., March 9, 1891.—Hon. W. A. Hemphill, Mayor—Dear Sir: I would respectfully call your atiention to the fact that the retaining wall on Nelson street along the property of the Atlanta Compress Company has fallen, and leaves the street in a dangerous condition, and, owing to the magnitude of the work, it will be necessary for the council to take some action in the matter. The wall was built by the city in 1888, and I herewith transmit the papers of the council relating to the transaction.

The immediate cause of the trouble was by reason of the excavation made by the Compress Company, which undermined the foundation of the wall.

The cost of rebuilding will be about $1,000. Respectfully submitted,

R. N. CLAYTON, City Engineer.

After considerable discussion the matter was, at the suggestion of Councilman Hulsey, referred to a special committee—the street committee, the city engineer and the city attorney.

This committee reports next Monday at the regular council meeting.

The rock wall supporting the sidewalk on Nelson street, and which had been filled in, gave way Sunday and the wall for about forty feet has fallen on the platform below.

A large crack extended quite a distance up the sidewalk and the whole wall seems in imminent danger of going down.

Where the wall has already caved in, a crevice extends along the street through the belgian block, and between it and the curbing, and unless immediately repaired is liable to join the sidewalk on the platform below at any minute.

MASONS AND ODD FELLOWS.

Myrtle Lodge, I. O. O. F., to Celebrate Its Anniversary—A Masonic Concert.

Monday night, Myrtle lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will hold an interesting anniversary celebration of its organization at 56½ Peachtree street.

The committee on arrangements consists of Messrs. Ben W. Greene, W. T. Nolan, C. F. Rice, N. Cannon and G. W. Hawkins. The speakers selected are J. B. Goodwin, J. A. Anderson and E. M. Mitchell.

Myrtle lodge is the youngest of its order in the city. It started March 11, 1887, with forty-eight members. The charter members were W. H. Hafer, W. H. Gardner, G. T. R. Jackson, D. P. Nolan, R. H. Crawford, Frank Davis and J. L. Coogler. The membership is now 115, all workers, indeed. The present officers are: Noble Grand, Oscar Lewis; vice grand, C. F. Rice; secretary, J. D. Brady; treasurer, W. H. Gardner. The lodge is now, as it has always been, in a highly prosperous condition.

The celebration will be for members and their families, only.

The Luckie Lodge Concert.

The W. D. Luckie Masonic lodge is making great preparations for the success of its concert Thursday evening.

It has secured the assembly room of the West End academy—this being the first time of its occupancy.

Miss Lelia Hanbury has prepared the programme as printed in Sunday's CONSTITUTION.

The lodge is a young one, being organized less than two years ago. Although it contains but forty-eight members, there is not to be found a set of more earnest and intelligent men in any similar lodge in the city. The officers are Messrs. F. F. Bunker, J. D. Frazier, Albert Fench, G. J. Dallas, W. C. Leigh and J. A. Caldwell.

THE POOR MOONSHINERS.

Six Convicted and Three Plead Guilty to the Charges.

The first session of the March term was held in the United States district court yesterday, and a big day's work was done.

C. F. Healon, of Lumpkin county, was found guilty of working in an illicit still and sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

Z. R. Harrison, of Habersham county, was found guilty of illicit retailing and sentenced to four months' imprisonment and a fine of $100.

Q. C. Satterfield, of Union county, was convicted on the same charge and given four months and fined $100.

Elijah Hollifield, of Towns county, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment for working in an illicit still.

K. E. Tanner, of Towns county, was convicted of illicit distilling and sentenced to three and a half months' imprisonment and a fine of $100.

T. C. Bryant, of Union county, was convicted of the same offense and given three and a half months' imprisonment and a fine of $100.

Joseph Brackett, of Murray county, pleaded guilty of illicit distilling and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment and $100 fine.

D. B. Eller, of Towns county, and D. L. Fain, of White county, pleaded guilty of illicit distilling; the former was given three months and $100 fine and the latter three and a half months and $100 fine.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

A Young White Man Arrested Charged With Passing It.

Ben Anderson, or John Haygood, a young white man is behind the bars at the station house in a very serious predicament.

He is charged with attempting to pass counterfeit money.

The young man gives two names, Haygood and Anderson.

Last night he went to the El Dorado auction house on Decatur street and proffered in payment for a pair of pants two counterfeit silver dollars.

The counterfeit money was refused and the young man went away.

Officers Smith and Taylor were notified, and they, with Sergeant Ozburn, finally found Anderson in Morris's wagon yard.

He and his mother arrived there yesterday. They claim to be peddlers from Gilmer county.

Over $100 in silver was found upon the woman. None of it was counterfeit, however. The young man cannot account for his possession of the two dollars. He will be investigated.

FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

The Premium Catalogue—The management of the Piedmont Exposition for 1891 respectfully request all patrons and friends who desire to make offers for special premiums to hand them in to the secretary of the company at the office, 38½ South Broad street, in order to have them printed in the catalogue, which will be ready for the printer in a few days.

A Mistake.—The name of Mr. S. E. Knox, of 157 Gilmer street, was by error connected in yesterday's CONSTITUTION with the Yarbrough robbery case, seemingly as a receiver of the stolen money. Mr. Knox had nothing whatever to do with the matter, and was called to the station only because he was an acquaintance of and fellow-boarder with Yarbrough, who is charged with committing the crime, and Sullivan, who was robbed. He is employed at the Gholstin Spring Bed Works, and is a most exemplary young man. In addition to being a hard working, deserving young man, Mr. Knox puts in his evening hours at hard study. Besides attending the shorthand school, he gives time to hard study.

Probably a Canard.—The Chattanooga Times is authority for the statement that there will be an extensive decapitation among the passenger agents of the East Tennessee road in a few days.

Local Freight Agents—The Local Freight Agents' Association held its usual weekly meeting last evening, but absolutely nothing beyond a chat about the state of trade and weather took place.

The Civil Docket.—The civil docket will be taken up in the circuit court Wednesday morning.

A Bad Negro.—Officers Wooten and Robbins yesterday morning captured John Wheems a bad negro from DeKalb county. Wheems is wanted for cutting another negro named John Forbes, whom he wounded very severely. He is now in the station house, and will be taken to Lithonia today.

Captured at Last—Will Lattimore, a negro who has given the police a great deal of trouble, has been captured. He was caught yesterday morning on Peters street, in front of Steward's bar, by Officers Wright and Etheridge. The officers had a bloody tussel with the negro, but finally landed him behind the bars in a very dilapidated condition. Lattimore has been in the hands of the police several times, but always contrived to escape. He is wanted for burglary and thieving of various kinds.

For Theft.—Fosby Long, a negro servant girl, who has been employed at the Adams house, was arrested by Officer J. B. Harris yesterday, charged with stealing some clothing out of one of the boarder's rooms.

ALLISON, OF IOWA,

WAS IN ATLANTA YESTERDAY AND LEAVES THIS MORNING.

He Talks About Crisp and the Speakership, Livingston and the Alliance, and Other Folks and Things.

United States Senator Allison, of Iowa, was in Atlanta yesterday, and expects to leave this forenoon for Birmingham.

Only his secretary is traveling with him.

"Politics!" he exclaimed, laughing, in reply to the question. "No, indeed. No politics in this trip."

He stopped puffing at his cigar to chuckle good-humoredly, repeating:

"No, I left that behind in Washington. Nor is it a business trip, nor is it exactly a pleasure trip. I should call it an observation trip, or something of that sort. This is a new country to me. I was never in Atlanta before. By the way, I found Senator Brown rather feebler than I expected. I went out to see him today at his home.

"I am engaged in seeing the country rather than the people. From Birmingham I go to Mobile and New Orleans, and from there I have a straight road home. And that's the road I'm going to travel."

Senator Allison is several years less than sixty, one would judge, solid and substantially framed, his hair and beard sprinkled with gray. He talks pleasantly, and rather leaves the impression that he would be a capital partner at hunting or fishing. With all that he seems to be a shrewd observer and to take a quiet interest in his surroundings.

"I don't believe I have any news," he continued presently. "Those newspaper people in Washington sweep clean nowadays, and I could hardly say anything of interest about Washington affairs that THE CONSTITUTION hasn't already printed.

"Oh, yes—they talk some about the nominees for '92. No," in answer to the question, "Cleveland isn't out of the list of probabilities yet."

"Who will it be," he was asked, "if it isn,t Cleveland?"

"Now," he said quizzically, "it would be hard to say. It's so far off, and so many things might happen, and it's so hard to get at what the people really think. By the way, who's the next congressman from this district? Livingston—that's a fact. Hammond was an able man. One of the best in the south, I thought.

"Crisp? Yes, he seems to be the leading candidate now for the speakership. I have met him frequently, and he impressed me as being a man of ability, broad-minded and conservative. Other people who know him better have that opinion of him, too.

"Yes, we have a democratic governor in Iowa now. No, his election was hardly a surprise. People who were posted expected a pretty close race, about such as it was. You have an alliance governor in Georgia. I visited the capitol, but didn't see him. Senator Brown, I think it was, told me that the building was completed within the appropriation. It's a credit to the state, and, considering the cost, it is remarkable work.

"The alliance out west—well, people hardly know what to expect of them. It is an element of uncertainty in the calculation of both parties."

The senator talked on then about the beautiful homes on Peachtree, the advantages of truck-farming, the development of the country, stopping to ask questions now and then, but nothing about politics would he say except in answer to questions, and then as little as possible.

"Merely a detour," he explained again in conclusion, "on my way home. No politics, and no business except to enjoy myself."

A Child's Death.

Alexander H. Stephens, Jr., the infant son of Mr. Clarence Stephens, of the Pullman service, died at half-past 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, of congestion of the lungs. The bright little fellow had been sick for five or six weeks.

The funeral takes place to-day at 3 o'clock, from the residence, 185 Courtland avenue. Interment at Westview.

or any other funny man couldn't say anything to improve trade, but high quality, fresh goods and low prices always bring the customers. And just here we want to say a word for that best of all flours—The Regal Patent. The mill from which we buy is situated in the best wheat-growing district of the United States. The flour is so ground that it retains all of the nutritious qualities of the wheat and yet is light and white as snow. If you have a special fancy cake or an extra quality pastry, or if you always want good, pure, light, wholesome bread, remember our Regal Patent flour will always give the right results. Hundreds testify of its purity and excellency.

Our California peaches, pears, white cherries and apricots still continue to give the best of satisfaction, and at the extremely low price of $3.50 per dozen cans, of the full standard quality. They are within the reach of all.

We sell the finest of sugar corn—the Windham brand—packed by Thurber-Whyland Company, at 15 cents. Why pay 20 cents for an inferior corn when you can get the best at 15 cents?

We have also decided to reduce our dried grapes to 6 cents per pound. We have a small lot of them only, and until they are closed out 6 cents per pound will take them.

As a fine relish for meat or a splendid sauce for fish, nothing excels the imported Walnut catsup, made by Crosse & Blackwell. It has been reduced to 25 cents per bottle, until it is introduced and all have thoroughly tested its merits.

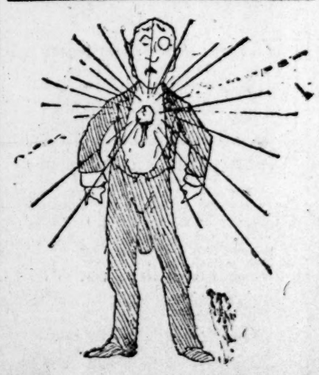

We are also making a specialty of fresh vegetables. We have them in every variety—English peas, carrots, soup bunches, new onions, green cabbage, parsley, turnips, etc.

Fresh strawberries have come in and are fine, and extremely cheap for the early berries. Come and see us.

We will extend to you a cordial welcome, courteous treatment and will furnish you with fresh, pure goods at rock-bottom prices.

Our delivery system is prompt and reliable.

A DIAMOND STUD, of really good quality is a good investment. There are very few articles that can be disposed of for so nearly what it cost, as a diamond, well bought. "HELL'S HALF-ACRE"

Furnishes a Tragedy of a Lurid Character.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., March 9.—[Special.]—A regular pitched battle was fought by a number of desperate men at a place called "Hell's Half-Acre," in Virginia, near Cumberland Gap, at 7 o'clock last evening. Hugh Johnson was shot through the head and chest and killed outright. Garrett Southern was shot through the thigh. Mose Gibson was shot through the bowels and is not expected to live. Shaddy Gibson was shot in the leg. A bystander, named John Owens, was hit by stray bullets in the chest. The two first were arrested last October upon suspicion of being the men who had shot young Morris Watts, a rich young Englishman. The fight yesterday was originated by these men, who sought revenge against those who were witnesses against them.

HE FOUND HIS WIFE

After Having Looked for Her Thirty-Three Years.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 9.—[Special.]—John Rivers, an old colored man, arrived in this city today, having discovered, after a search of thirty-three years, that his wife was living here. Rivers and his wife were slaves, and shortly after they were married, were separated and sold to different parties. Neither heard of the other's whereabouts until recently. Rivers, after advertising for his wife repeatedly, heard that she was living in this city.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Futures opened at eighteen to nineteen points advance, presently declined, closing steady at twelve to fourteen points advance from Saturday's closing prices. Liverpool took our market quite by surprise this morning, reporting an advance averaging 5.54d. The bears climbed for their cotton with an activity and spirit that has seldom been exceeded. The scare about the next crop, which the bulls have been fostering for some time, took shape in a letter enlarging upon bad weather at the south, the lateness of the planting season, the high price of corn, and predicting that the acreage for the next crop will be greatly reduced. Although the scare was about the next crop, the greatest advance was in this, because it is in this crop that speculation is most active and short interest is the greatest. The highest prices were made early in the day, from which, although dealings were active, prices made an irregular decline. Spot cotton was ⅛ cents lower and moderately active.

TELEGRAPH BREVITIES.

The Berwitter Manufacturing Company, of Chicago, has failed.

The president is duck shooting on Chesapeake bay, near Bengies, Md.

Benjamin H. Paddock, Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Massachusetts, is dead.

The commission appointed to select a site for a dry dock on the gulf has reported in favor of Algiers, La.

The Missouri annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has voted against admitting women to the general conference.

The Kansas house of representatives has passed the senate bill making eight hours a legal work day for state, county and municipal employes.

Rev. Christian Sans, ex-pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church, of Joliet, Ill., is dead. He was noted for his kindness, generosity and charitableness.

William McLaughlin and his son were instantly killed, and Mrs. McLaughlin fatally injured by a Grand Trunk passenger train, at Shaftsburg, Mich.

R. W. Thompson, the Albany, N. Y., lawyer who forged the will of Thomas Denny, was today sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the state prison. The sentence is the minimum penalty.

The California legislature will commence balloting today for a United States senator to complete the unexpired term of Mr. Hearst. The republicans have ninety votes out of the 120 in both houses.

TAKING THE TOWN.

THE PEOPLE ENTHUSING ON THE LIBRARY MOVEMENT.

A Good Meeting at the Library Last Night. A Capital Committee Appointed—The Ladies Will Help.

It was an earnest and business-like crowd that met at the library last night to consider ways and means for raising the money to buy the Armstrong library, and before the meeting adjourned they had opened the campaign.

Mr. G. V. Gress was called to the chair and Judge E. C. Kontz was requested to act as secretary.

The first business was the reports of committees. Mr. Gress stated that he and Mr. Kempton had conferred with Major Ketner, and it was found that the plan of paying for the books in ten monthly installments was agreeable to the family. On payment of the first monthly installment the books would be delivered, with bond for title, on condition that they should be kept insured.

Judge Kontz reported that he and Mr. Gress had been to see the library, and were much impressed by the high character of the collection. It was selected with the uniform judgment of a man of broad culture, whose idea was to make it uniform with his idea of culture. The books were well bound and in good condition—many of them protected by paper covers. He understood that there were about 3,000 volumes here and it was the intention of the family to bring here, and add to the collection, other books which were now in Richmond, Va., or Hannibal, Mo.

Mr. Sams remarked that Dr. Armstrong had told him his library contained about 4,000 books.

The attention of the meeting was next directed to the best method of canvassing for subscriptions, and the matter was fully discussed. Atlanta people will always contribute to a good cause, but they like to be approached in the right way. It was the study of the meeting to do this. The prevailing idea was to get the best possible committee, and let them take the city by sections. In that way the whole work could be done in three hours, without taking very much of anybody's time.

The Subscription Committee.

Mr. Gress, after consultation with the meeting, appointed the following committe to secure the fund:

Pryor Mynatt,	J. F. Gatins,
Isaac Hirsch,	P. G. Grant,
T. H. Astin,	Professor C. M. Neal,
Charles H. Willcox,	J. E. Carlton,
M. W. Spence,	F. M. Coker, Jr.,

Walker Dunston,	Gus Ilzke,
Harry Snook,	Walter Smith,
Gus Long,	Thomas F. Corrigan,
Fulton Colville,	Hubert Culberson,
Stuart Woodson,	Hugh McKee,
Henry Dawson,	M. B. Torbett,
	A. L. Kontz.

These gentlemen are requested to meet at the rooms of the Young Men's Library Association at 6 o'clock this evening. There the territory will be divided, and the committee will go out tomorrow morning bright and early and clean up the work.

To Enlist the Ladies.

The meeting recognized the power of the ladies in every good work and took steps to enlist their efforts in this. It was decided to ask some of the leading ladies of the city to undertake to enlist their friends, and to this end Messrs. W. G. Cooper, A. E. Calhoun and Judge E. C. Kontz, were appointed a committee to call on those ladies and ask their good offices.

When the ladies have given their consent their names will be published. There is no doubt that they will take an active interest in the matter, and when they are enlisted everybody might as well be.

It was suggested that the school boys and school girls of the city be requested to talk of the library addition till the fund to purchase the Armstrong collection is complete. If they do there will be 5,000 tongues wagging for the cause. With this and the good ladies to aid in keeping the matter before the public, the work of the committee will be a grateful task.

Miss O'Brien's Death.

The intelligence of the death of Miss Mamie O'Brien was heard with regret by a large circle of friends.

She was a most charming young lady, just twenty-one years of age, and came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. O'Brien, to this city from Columbus, seven years ago.

The funeral services will occur at the church of the Immaculate Conception at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon, and the body will be sent to Columbus, at 2:15 o'clock, for burial.

The pallbearers selected are Messrs. A. J. Johnson, A. Dooly, Cliff Orr, W. A. Ward, J. B. Wheat and Thomas Stocks.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The prospects in the stock market this morning seemed bright on the publication of a dispatch from the other side of the ocean, describing a better feeling over the South American troubles and a brighter outlook there. Later, however, the announcement that the government of Argentine had ordered another three days' suspension of payments by the banks placed a new face upon the matter, and, although the feeling there was described as hopeful, the effect upon the stock market here was unfavorable, and selling was resumed after a slight rally, and still lower prices were attained all through the list. The movements today, as usual of late, were confined to very few stocks, Grangers, Lackawanna and Louisville being the only ones, except New England, in which there were movements for more than slight fractions. After an opening from ¼ to ⅝ per cent higher than Saturday's figures, a further slight improvement was met by a renewed selling movement, and prices declined among the active stocks from ½ to 1¼ per cent from the highest figures. These losses were all recovered in the late dealings, with something in addition in almost every case. A few stocks showed extraordinary strength in the final rally and scored marked advances for the day. The important movements of the day, however, were all in a half dozen shares, with the exception of an unexplained drop in Citizens' Gas of Brooklyn, which sold at 92 against 98 for the last previous sale, and quickly dropped to 80, but afterward rallied to 90 at the close, the whole being accomplished on a sale of only 1,900 shares. The market closed dull but firm at the best prices of the day, which were generally small fractions better than Saturday's figures. Sales of listed stock, 165,000 shares; unlisted, 9,000 shares.

Exchange quiet and steady at 486@489; commercial bills 484@487½.

Money easy 2½@3½, closing offered at 3.

Sub-treasury balances: Coin, $152,260,000; currency, $8,567,000.

Governments dull but steady to firm; 4s 121½; 4½s 102.

State bonds dull but firm.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The news from abroad was more disturbing; the bankers and merchants in Buenos Ayres loaned the government $9,000,000, and the people in general were said to be going to change the condition of affairs for the better by meeting the government half way. On this item of news the London market opened with a firm tone, and London took between 6,000 and 8,000 shares of our stocks. The moral effect of London buying created a better feeling here, and those who left on Saturday with gloomy forebodings took a more roseate view of things. The market was subjected to the same bear manipulations that have marked trading since a week ago, but somehow or another prices did not yield. The room traders, who are always on the alert, began to turn to the bull side, and a smart rally ensued in consequence. The rumor mongers were at work circulating all kinds of stories, but none of them turned out to be true. As a rule, when these lies are circulated it is time to change front. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy at 77, even for a 4 per cent. stock, is not high. A system with such a tremendous earning power and such a past record can recover very quickly. We think people will wake up to this fact soon. The past year has witnessed a collection of unfortunate circumstances for which the stock market has to suffer. It is just as likely as not that fortune may turn our way for the next twelve months. The market closes strong.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, March 9.—[Special.]—Greatly to the surprise of the trade Liverpool fairly boomed this morning, gaining in all 3-64d, though closing barely steady. Our cable advices state the advance to have been caused by rumors in Liverpool of an attempt to advance prices in New York, and an interview with a prominent Atlanta firm regarding the backwardness of the planting for the new crop, which appeared in a New York Journal yesterday. One of the largest cotton houses in Liverpool has been very long of the market for some time past, and we are told the advance today was materially assisted by them. Our market opened firm at 18@19 points advance on the immediate deliveries and some 22 points on the new crop positions to lose a greater part of the advance on the posting of interior and port receipts and the heavy selling by commission houses for southern account. The English board of trade reports the exports of cloths since January 1 25,000,000 yards less than last year and a decrease of 6,000,000 pounds of yarns compared with 1890. Bombay receipts for the half week are 52,000 bales, against 34,000 bales in 1890. Estimates for tomorrow's receipts range from 13,000 to 21,000 bales including 7,000 bales at New Orleans, against 8,100 bales last year.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Liverpool came 3-64d higher this morning, in addition to which much newspaper talk of high waters throughout the south had a greatly stimulating effect on values. At the opening there were but few sellers, and with some little inquiry prices were advanced some 18 points higher than Saturday's close. After the second had been supplied values sold off 3@10 points and closed but a trifle higher than the lowest of the day. Receipts are very fair, but are temporarily lost sight of in the generally more favorable ideas that prevail for the article. We believe that the risk of buying is no more than it is worth while to take the long side, and encourage our friends more than we have in the recent past. We would add, however, that with any good rallies it will be opportune to take profits, for any serious or lasting advance can only follow discouraging crop reports, of which it is absolutely impossible to say anything certain.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The shorts in wheat surrendered as gracefully as they could. Before the day was over it was generally conceded that Cudahy, as well as a host of bears of lesser note, had decided not to remain short over tomorrow, when the final government report of the weight of last year's crop is due. The May future started at $1.01⅜, sold at $1.01⅞, and off to $1.00⅝, and advanced to $1.02⅜. Realizing sales carried it off to $1.01⅛@1.01½, but the demand at this figure was good. After fluctuating nervously around $1.02 sor some time the market was lifted to $1.02⅝. This rise was due to the official closing quotations from Berlin, Paris, Antwerp, London and Liverpool. All of these markets were much higher. The price then sagged to $1.02¼, but was lifted to $1.02⅜. Taken altogether, the market was an exceedingly wild and nervous one. The fluctuations were so radical and frequent that it was a difficult matter at all times for brokers to fill orders.

The opening in the corn market was at about the same price as it closed Saturday—58⅝@⅝c for May and 55⅝c for July. The receipts were liberal, amounting to 442 carloads, but only three carloads were up to the standard of contract grades. July corn was in especial request early in the session, but May was equally clamored for toward the close. Sellers could scarcely be found at times, when the houses associated in the minds of the local traders with the bull deal were bid. ding up the market. May advanced toward the close to 61¾c, and closed at 61⅝, July sold as high as 59½c, sparingly at the extreme, and closed at 59c.

The trade in oats was all of a scalping nature. The market was firm and active, scoring an advance of 1½c on the strength in corn and the good buying of shorts, who are still fairly numerous.

The provision market was very dull, and for a long time showed very little affinity with the bulls in grain prices. In the end it advanced a little, but, from the appearance of the pit, better prices were submitted to under protest from the trade, which was weighted down with the continued heavy receipts of hogs. The estimates of 50,000 head at the yards this morning, and 40,000 head expected tomorrow, more than bear out Saturday's prediction.

CHICAGO, March 9.—With the exception of a short time during the fore part of the session, the bulls have had it all their own way in wheat and corn today. Cables have been exceedingly strong, and in some instances very much higher. We think, however, the principal element of strength consisted in the anticipated government report, which will be out tomorrow, some parties figuring as low as 80,000,000 being the reserve left in the farmers' hands, against 150,000,000 a year ago; others figure 115,000,000 as being the probable outcome of the report. However it may be, the fear that it will be very bad for the bears caused a general covering of the deals.

The receipts of corn have been sold for July delivery the latter part of last week were brought in today. The estimated receipts for the next few days are not as large as anticipated, and partly in consequence of the fear of the government report, though nobody seems to have any definite idea of what it will be. When the market was fairly above 60c for May delivery the speculators who believe in 63c were liberal buyers, causing another cent advance.

The receipts of oats have been quite liberal, but the strength in corn and wheat caused a little advance in oats.

Trading in provisions was very light. The large receipts of hogs had a depressing effect early, but the strength in grain caused a somewhat stronger market for the hog product.

NOTICE OF THE INTRODUCTION OF ORDINance to construct sewers. Notice is hereby given that at the meeting of the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta held on the 2d March, 1891, an ordinance was introduced and read providing for the construction of a sewer from near Cain and Fort streets, through Fort street and Highland avenue to Highland avenue and Hillard street, of vitrified pipe and brick, costing $850.

Also an ordinance providing for the construction of a sewer from Third street to Fifth street in West Peachtree street, of same material, costing $1,470.

Also an ordinance providing for the construction of a sewer from Formwalt street to Windsor street south of Georgia avenue, of brick laid in cement, costing $3,000.

Said sewers are to be of various diameters and to be built in accordance with the act amending the charter of said city assessing 90 cents per lineal foot upon the property and estates respectively abutting on said sewers on each side of said sewers.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY—To the Superior Court of Said County: The petition of John Stephens, D. G. Wylie, James F. O'Neill, M. C. Stoner, R. N. Hardeman, Paul Faver, D. P. Stewart and R. D. Mann shows that they have associated themselves under the name of "The Atlanta Mining and Stock Exchange," and they desire to be incorporated by and under that name, and as a corporation to exercise all the rights, powers and privileges hereinafter set forth or that may be exercised by such a corporation under the laws of the state of Georgia.

The object for which said corporation is formed and incorporated is for the purpose of maintaining a mining and stock exchange in the city of Atlanta, for the mutual convenience of those engaged in the business of dealing in mines and mining stocks and other securities in said city or elsewhere and for the purpose of gain.

In the conduct of said business they desire to be empowered to buy, exchange, sell, barter, take options on all kinds of mining property; to exchange mineral property for all kinds and classes of property, whether the same belong to this company or to other companies or individuals placing the same with this company for exchange or sale; to receive from other companies or individuals mining property for exchange or sale and to charge commissions for service in effecting the same; to deal in, sell and exchange all kinds of stocks and bonds; to receive the same in payment for properties of their own or of other companies or individuals, and to assign the same in payment for purchases made by themselves or others; to open up, test, and, if necessary, operate any mining property belonging to them or placed in their hands for the same and to do any and all things necessary in such examination and operation; to make, issue and sell, on such property as they may own, the company's own general and special debenture bonds or other obligations, upon such terms and in such amounts as may be deemed advisable, based on said property and secured by such trust deeds, mortgages or other conveyances, general or special, as may be necessary, and said company may limit its liability upon its own or the bonds and obligations of others, whether corporation, partnership or individual, endorsed or guaranteed by it, by express stipulation on the face or in the endorsement or guaranty thereof; to act, through its officers, president and secretary, as attorney-in fact for any corporation, partnership or individual in the transfer of real or personal property, and to have the right to act as fiscal agent for any corporation for negotiating, issuing, registering and countersigning bonds, certificates of stock or other obligations, and to guarantee the payment of such bonds, certificates, obligations on the interest thereon; to operate and maintain a mining and stock exchange in the city of Atlanta with such branches elsewhere as may be deemed advisable, and to frame and adopt a constitution and to make such by-laws as may be deemed proper for the management of the affairs of this corporation; to have the privilege of doing any act or thing in connection therewith that a natural person could, not prohibited to corporations, including the right to receive payments to the capital stock of the corporation in any kind of property that the corporation may be authorized to deal in; to sue and be sued; to have and use a common seal.

The amount of capital stock to be employed by them, 10 per cent. of which is paid in, is fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), with the privilege of increasing the same, in manner to be prescribed by the by-laws of said corporation to any sum not exceeding $500,000 dollars, divided in shares of the par value of $100 per share.

Their principal place of business to be in the city of Atlanta, said county, with the privilege of maintaining agencies elsewhere.

They desire to be incorporated for the term of twenty years.

Therefore they pray that they, their associates, successors and assigns may be incorporated by and in the name of "The Atlanta Mining and Stock Exchange" for the period of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal at the expiration of that time, with all the rights, powers and privileges herein before set forth, or that may be exercised by such a corporation under the laws of the state of Georgia, and your petitioners will ever pray, etc.

AMONG THE RAILROADS.

THE EAST TENNESSEE STILL OUT IN THE COLD.

Meeting of the General Passenger Agents Blockade Raised on the Georgia Pacific—Other News.

Yesterday was general passenger agents' day in Atlanta.

There were present in the city Colonel B. W. Wrenn, of the East Tennessee road; Mr. S. H. Hardwick, of the Georgia Pacific; Mr. D. G. Edwards, of the Queen and Crescent; Mr. R. E. Lutz, of the Atlanta and West Point; E. T. Charlton, of the Central; Mr. W. L. Danley, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and Mr. C. P. Atmore, of the Louisville and Nashville.

They held a meeting at the Kimball house, but as one of the gentleman expressed it—

"We did nothing worth publishing. It was nothing but an informal talk about passenger affairs in general."

And still the matter of the East Tennessee's entrance to the union depot is in statu quo. A meeting of the managers of the roads holding proprietary interests in the depot was held yesterday afternoon in the office of General Manager Tyler, of the Atlanta and West Point. There were present, besides Captain Tyler, Major Greene, of the Georgia road; Captain Gabbett, of the Central, and Colonel Thomas, of the Western and Atlantic. The meeting was held for the purpose of settling the question of the East Tennessee's entrance.

"Was the question settled?" was asked of Captain Gabbett at the conclusion of the meeting.

"Not yet," he replied. "We found there were some matters connected with the case that required investigation, and that will be done during the ensuing week. Next Monday afternoon we will meet again in Captain Tyler's office, when the question will be definitely settled."

"But will the East Tennessee be given formal permission to come in at that meeting?"

"I cannot promise that positively, but the outlook is favorable for the East Tennessee."

At 6 o'clock last evening the entire line of the Georgia Pacific road was open for business, and trains were arriving and departing on schedule time.

The annual statement of the Norfolk and Western railroad presents an array of figures and results of the year's business of that company that must be highly gratifying to every one of its stock and its bondholders. Briefly stated, the operating expenses of that system and the taxes paid upon its properties aggregated but 64 per cent of its earnings. It has been able to meet all current and fixed charges; to pay unexpectedly large dividends to its shareholders; to add considerably to its sinking fund, and to put a handsome increase to its surplus account. The whole history of its successful progress is summed up in this statement—that during the year 1890 its gross earnings increased 17 per cent, its operating expenses (over a widely extended field) but 14 per cent, while its net earnings increased 22 per cent.

Track laying is now in progress on the extension of the Mobile and Girard road. It is thought that the work will be completed by May 1st.

The Krehbiel Palace Car Company, of Chicago, has been incorporated, with a capital stock of $2,500,000. The company proposes to manufacture palace cars with the Krehbiel vestibule, which is entirely different from the Wagner or Pullman. To use it the projecting roof and platform of the cars have to be removed, and the vestibule is inserted to form the connection. Instead of two narrow doors at each side, as in the Pullman, there is one wide door in the middle of each side. When these wide doors are closed the vestibule has an even floor the full width of the cars. Brakes and guard rails in their present form are abolished. The company has temporary shops at Cleveland, O., but it is the intention of the company to ultimately establish works somewhere in the south.

A New Orleans paper quotes General Passenger Agent D. G. Edwards, of the Queen and Crescent, as saying:

"There are to be no dismissals in the passenger or any other department of the Queen and Crescent railroad in this city, of which I am aware; and the few changes that will occur are of so unimportant a nature as to be hardly worth reporting. Major R. H. Garrett, in addition to his duties as division passenger agent of the Queen and Crescent, will assume charge of the main ticket office."

The projectors of the Middle Georgia and Atlantic railroad think that they have a bonanza in Hutchinson island, and are anxious to interest those identified in various railroad enterprises in its development, says The Savannah News. It is claimed that for a not very large sum of money that part of the island owned by the Seaboard Company can furnish terminal facilities for the convenience of a city of half a million people. The ideas of the value of the island entertained by those who bought the city's holdings have run up land on other parts of the island to fabulous prices. One tract of 200 acres, which belonged to the estate of Waring, and which was sold six months ago for $2,000, is held at $50,000, and another similar strip along the river front, which changed hands a few years ago for $800, is now held at $20,000. These figures give only a faint idea of the boom on this island. It is stated on very good authority that the Middle Georgia and Atlantic, the South Bound railroad, the Macon and Atlantic railroad and the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery railroad have united their interests in terminals in this city, and will use Hutchinson island.

Captain W. C. Tilton, of Murray county, is authority for the statement that a company, with ample capital, proposes building a railroad from a point in Whitfield county, connecting with the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, to Ball Ground, in Cherokee county, a distance of some thirty-five or forty miles, and thence, ultimately, on to Gainesville. This road will traverse the mineral sections of Murray and Cherokee counties to Ball Ground, where it will intersect the Knoxville Southern, or more generally known, the Marietta and North Georgia railroad, and at which point an extensive furnace will be built. The road will also include in its route the Jet Marble Company's property, in Whitfield county.

The prime object in building such a railroad is to develop the mineral interests of the county through which it will run. In Murray and Cherokee counties are deposits of manganese and iron ores, which are said to be well nigh inexhaustible and rich beyond comparison, from 50 to 70 per cent being pure metal. The mineral wealth of the county alone, to say nothing of the agricultural resources, would insure a tremendous business to the road annually.

Captain Tilton says the undertaking is no uncertainty, but will most assuredly be built, and that too before long. The projectors mean strictly business and have the wherewithal at their command to start the enterprise at any time.

The Empire and Dublin road, it is stated, has been graded to Grovania, and the rails are all in hand to complete it to that place.

The Norfolk and Western road will at once commence the erection at Norfolk, Va., of a $600,000 union passenger and freight depot to accommodate all the roads that use the belt line in that city.

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road is about to commence the construction of new freight yards in South Chattanooga. They will be large enough to accommodate both the road and its leased line, the Western and Atlantic.

All the towns near the route of the Macon and Northeastern railroad are making an effort to show that it ought to take them in as it goes along. Of course they can't all be accommodated with the main trunk line, but they can go to work and build branches to it. This most of them will do, it is supposed.

A preliminary survey of the Emerson and Gainesville railroad was made last week. The projected route, as far as surveyed, after leaving Emerson, goes by way of Canton, Chamley's, Morley's, Tate and on to Dawsonville. Mr. P. S. Black, the civil engineer in charge of the survey, says there are inexhaustible quantities of magnetic iron, marble, mica, etc., on the route, and while the Marietta and North Georgia taps a good portion of that section, there is yet a considerable area of undeveloped territory that has never been penetrated by a railroad.

The stockholders of the Fort Payne Eastern railroad met at Rome, Wednesday, and elected a full board of directors and the following officers: L. A. Dobbs, of Fort Payne, president; J. W. Spaulding, of Fort Payne, vice president; R. T. Armstrong, of Rome, general manager. Engineers will be put in the field at once. Several routes will be surveyed and the most feasible one adopted. Nine miles of the road east from Fort Payne are already graded. Several towns along the proposed routes have offered bonuses for the road. All the stock was represented and harmony prevailed.

As the modern railroad train is ahead of the old-time stage-coach, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla, a modern medicine, ahead of the old-time remedies. In positive merit is is peculiar to itself.

REMEMBERING DR. ARMSTRONG.

The Atlanta Philosophic Society Passes Resolutions of Condolence and Sorrow.

The Rev. Dr. James G. Armstrong was president of the Atlanta Philosophic Society.

The first meeting of the society since the death of Dr. Armstrong was held last night.

At the meeting Mr. Stanhope Sams offered the following resolutions, which were adopted by a rising vote, ordered put upon the minutes of the society, a signed copy to be sent to the family of Dr. Armstrong, and the daily papers are requested to publish them as passed:

Whereas, The Atlanta Philosophic Society has sustained a great and irreparable loss in the death of Dr. James Glasgow Armstrong, one of its founders, and who, ever since its organization, had been its beloved and venerated president, the leader in its discussions and the kindly and vigilant watcher over its existence, the loving friend of its members, the cheerful and sure counselor in all its deliberations, and the guide and voice of its best endeavor and its best aims; and,

Whereas, Science and art have lost a student whose genius had long held aloft their beneficent light to the gaze and admiration of his fellowmen, and who died at his work in their honor, falling asleep after a night of vigil and patient, earnest labor in the field of his choice; and,

Whereas, The city, the community and the state have lost a worthy citizen, a kindly neighbor and an ardent patriot; a scholar who illustrated past glories and present achievement, of broad culture and marvelous eloquence, and in whose death all humanity has lost a friend; and,

Whereas, The wife and daughter, who so loved and so honored him living, and whose love and sorrow are now his best monument and epitaph, have lost all in losing him, save that love which reaches beyond earth's grave and pierces the dusk on the other side, reclaiming in the eternities what it loses in the brief years of time;

Therefore, be it resolved, That this society recognizes and fully acknowledges, with the remorse of love, all that it owes to the guiding and forming influence of the noble soul that has taken on immortality; that he correctly and eloquently announced the true aims of science when he said, in his inaugural address, that its purpose is to make us "more able to comprehend and solve the grand problems with which a catholic philosophy concerns itself," and saw its great demands when he prayed for "the grace of patience" in its study, and that these words have been as lamps that guided our feet, as his sage counsels had ever urged us forward to greater endeavor; and

Be it further resolved, That the warm sympathy of the members of this society goes out to the stricken hearts of his widow and daughter, and will abide with them till strength comes to bear the burden that must be borne, and hope springs anew in the room of sorrow; and

Be it further resolved, That, as showing our best appreciation of his life's effort and example—how he toiled at his appointed labor, till God's finger, reaching through earth's darkness and suffering, but bringing light and joy, "touched him and he slept"—that we take up again the task that fell from his slackened grasp, and which we have laid down in the heaviness of our grief, and move onward with "grace of patience" and light of hope to the goal for which he and we strove together, and which he, happily, has reached before us.

NOTICE.

HAVING RETIRED FROM THE WILSON Coal and Lumber Co., on the 28th of February, 1891, I recommend to my successors the patronage of my friends.

I shall be engaged for the next two months at the office, 24 South Broad street, Atlanta, Ga.

I commenced in the real estate, renting and collection of accounts, in this city, in September, 1865, and continued in it until the fall of 1867, when the Coal Creek coal mines were opened in East Tennessee; then, through the kindness of Major Campbell Wallace, who had the first coal from these mines shipped to me, I soon found that there was more demand for coal than land, in this city, and I commenced in that business.

It is my intention, about the 1st of May, to return to the real estate business again, trusting that my old friends and the citizens of Atlanta will give me a share of their patronage, pledging them that I will use my best endeavors to serve them faithfully. Respectfully,

EDWARD PARSONS.

"VOX POPULI!"

What the People Say of Cheney's Expectorant.

DAHLONEGA, GA.

Cheney's Expectorant has cured me of pains in the chest. It is a peerless remedy.
REV. GOODMAN HUGHES.

MURPHY, N. C.

Dear Sirs—A trial of Cheney's Expectorant in my family has satisfied me of its wonderful merit. It is, indeed, the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds I ever tried. Respectfully,
MRS. BEN POSEY.

J. A. HOLTZCLAW: "I pronounce it the best cough remedy in existence."

T. J. BUCHANAN, City: "I have sold it for years and used it in my family. I would not be without it."

ATLANTA, GA.

Dear Sir—It gives me pleasure to recommend to the public such a valuable remedy as Cheney's Expectorant. I have used it in my family with unfailing effect for coughs, colds and croup. I would not be without it.
JOHN A. BARRY.

BLAIRSVILLE, KY.

My nephew has been thoroughly cured of croup by Cheney's Expectorant. W. H. MILLER.

HE WAS CUT IN TWO.

A TRACK HAND KILLED IN THE W. AND A. YARD.

James R. Allen Run Down by a Box Car. Both Legs Cut Off at the Hip—He Lives an Hour.

Cut in two by a freight car.

And then living one hour and talking rationally with those about him.

That is what was seen in the Western and Atlantic railroad yard yesterday.

James R. Allen, a track hand on the road, was the victim.

For more than a month Allen had been working with a gang of track hands under his father-in-law, W. S. Rogers, who came to Atlanta since the Western and Atlantic changed hands.

Allen and Rogers both came from Dixon, Tenn., with the new management of the road, leaving their families at that place. Since coming to Atlanta they have been in the habit of going home every other week to spend Sunday.

Last Tuesday night they both went to Dixon, and came back to Atlanta yesterday morning.

At breakfast Allen complained of an illness, and Mr. Rogers refused to let him work, telling him to rest for the day.

Soon after breakfast Mr. Rogers went to his work in the yard, leaving Allen to spend the day at his boarding house.

Just how Allen spent the day will never be known.

It is known, however, that he left the boarding house soon after dinner and came down town to get some medicine.

Later in the afternoon the switch engine in the Western and Atlantic yards backed upon a sidetrack to take on some back cars near the Atlanta Cotton Factory. The engine moved back against the cars with some force, and the flagman who made the coupling stepped out to signal the engineer to move on. Just then the flagman heard an unearthly groan, and stooping down looked under a car.

His hands, which were raised to motion the engineer on, dropped limp to his side.

Under the car he saw the mutilated body of a man.

Straightening up quickly, he exclaimed:

"We've cut a man in two!"

The engineer heard the remark, and with his fireman went to the train. There with the aid of other members of the crew the man was removed to another part of the yard.

His body was carried upon a car door while both limbs from the hips down, both badly crushed and cut, were carried by other members of the crew.

He was quickly recognized by some of the yard men and a message was sent for his father-in-law. But before that gentleman arrived his own son, who is in the same squad, came up.

Allen looked at his brother-in-law, a faint smile coming to his lips.

"It's all over with me," he said.

The junior Rogers took the dying man by the hand, asking:

"Are you suffering, Jim?"

"No, it don't hurt. But this will nearly kill Mary. I wish I could see her."

Then for quite a while he talked of his wife and baby, but finally his mind began to wander, and by the time his father-in-law reached him he was irrational. Dr. Stevens responded to a call, but at a glance saw that that there was no possible chance for the poor fellow.

For an hour he lingered, and during that time showed no sign of fear or the least indication of pain.

His fortitude was something remarkable.

After his death the body was removed from the yard to Wylie & Barclay's undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for burial.

An inquest will be held this morning by Coroner Davis, and then the remains will be shipped to Dixon, Tenn., for burial.

Allen was thirty-five years of age and leaves a wife and one child.

For bracing up the nerves, purifying the blood and curing sick headache and dyspepsia, here is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

IN THE COURTS.

Judge Marshall J. Clarke Hands in a Small Batch of Decisions.

Yesterday was rather a dull day in the courts.

The city court began the trial of the case of Maukins vs. the East Tennessee railroad, a suit for personal damages, which went over till today.

Judge Marshall J. Clarke rendered a number of decisions in cases that came up before him for a hearing.

Mrs. E. B. Bruner was granted $20 a month alimony from her husband, J. W. Bruner.

Charles T. Ryan and W. C. Bellamy were appointed notaries public for Fulton county.

The petition of the Hanye Grocery Company to change its name to the Atlanta Grocery Company, was granted.

Mrs. Deckner's Funeral.

Yesterday morning the funeral of Mrs. M. R. Deckner occurred at the residence on West Hunter street, and was largely attended by the many friends of the family. The body was conveyed to Oakland where the interment took place.

Through the Corridors.

General P. M. B. Young was in the city yesterday. The general was en route to his plantation in Bartow, from Asheville, N. C.

Judge Hoykin Wright, of Augusta, is at the Kimball. The judge is in attendance upon the railway commission.

Mr. Sidney Smith, of Macon, was at the Markham last night. Mr. Smith is one of the Central City's successful business men.

Mr. J. Gunby Jordan, of Columbus, was in the city yesterday conferring with the visiting real estate men.

Mr. Cecil Gabbett, general manager of the Central, came up from Savannah yesterday and was at the Kimball.

Mr. Pat Calhoun came in from Augusta last night.

Mr. C. C. Brown, of Duluth, Minn., is in the city visiting his brother, Mr. F. L. Brown, on Ivy street.

Smart Weed and Belladonna, combned with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters, make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plasters the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

The Finest Boy Known.

With pleasure do we inform you that on January 28th were we blessed with the advent of a fine boy, weighing 10¾ pounds—perfect, healthy and fine-looking. We had no need of a physician. All well and doing well. General verdict: He is the finest boy known, is growing fast, good-natured and fully developed. Thanks for assistance obtained through the use of "Mothers Friend." We are well and favorably impressed with the merits of the remedy, believing all ladies who use it will be benefited.

May success attend you in your endeavors to send assistance to suffering women during the trials incident to child-bearing.

A Dangerous Period.

As the season moves swiftly toward the boundary lines that lie between winter and spring, it frequently happens that the human system, which has borne the strain of winter, shows signs of relaxation. In all ages this period has been noted as a dangerous one, especially to those who have weak constitutions. A course of the great blood purifier and tonic, S. S. S., will enable the most delicate to face the season's changes with impunity. It is a medicine that not only strengthens the weak and the delicate, but is an additional safeguard for those who consider themselves strong.

Add twenty drops of Angostura Bitters to every glass of impure water you drink. The genuine only manufactured by Dr. Siegert & Sons.

Please Remember That

We employ a practical optician of long experience, and if your eyes need attention we are prepared to give you a perfect fit at a very reasonable price. We sell only the best quality and guarantee perfect satisfaction. Maier & Berkele, opticians and jewelers, 93 Whitehall street. mar8-d7t

BALLARD HOUSE.

A New and Elegant Hotel on Peachtree Street.

One of the best and most convenient hotels in the city is the Ballard house. Its location is just opposite the governor's mansion. It has suites and single rooms. Every convenience. The choicest fare. jan23-d1y

IN THE SPRING.

Nature should be assisted, when the system is changing from the full habit of the winter months, to the lighter diet of the warm season. Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) stimulates the sluggish blood and rids you of that feeling of heaviness and languor.

S. S. S., beautifies the skin and makes the complexion rosy and healthy.
S. S. S., gives elasticity to the step and buoyant spirits.
S. S. S., makes the feeble and delicate strong and robust.
S. S. S., is a tonic to the whole body and increases vitality.
S. S. S., is a simple vegetable medicine.

If there is poison in the blood, it generally shows itself in the spring, and this is the season to help nature to drive it out and be cured. Nothing does this as well as S. S. S. It is harmless to the most delicate, yet so powerful as to cleanse the system of all impurities.

H. L. WILSON,

REAL ESTATE AGENT

3 PRYOR ST., KIMBALL HOUSE.

Persons desiring real estate, either for stores, residences, manufactories or speculative purposes, will find it to their interest, financially, to call at my office. Having lived in Atlanta since 1852, I feel that I am prepared to serve buyers advantageously. I sold $1,000,000 worth of good real estate during the first half of 1890. I devote my entire time to selling and buying real estate on commission.

Those parties engaging my services get the full benefit of my experience and knowledge of the business.

All of my transactions are on strictly legitimate business principles; every sale is quickly settled up. I refer you to my past successful record.

16 acres on Ashby, near G. P. railroad.
$6,500—New house on Powers street.
$6,000—Extra home on E. Baker st.
$4,500—50x190, Peachtree.
$2,000—5-r house cor. Inman ave. and Calhoun.
$4,500—Lot 100x195 on North Calhoun street.
$4,000—Lot 100x200, Wilson ave.
20 acres on Air-Line railroad, just north of Highland ave.
Bargain on Currier, 50x140.
Administrators and executors, or persons who want the cash for their property, will save money by consulting me.

ATLANTA REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

No 5 S. Pryor St., Atlanta Ga.

The great growth of Atlanta during the past year will, from present appearances, be exceeded in 1891, and the opportunities for those who make judicious investments in Atlanta real estate before the spring boom are quite as favorable as during last season.

We shall be pleased to advise our friends and customers of special bargains. We offer the following, which we consider good value:

39 lots inside city limits, lay well and within one block of street cars, which will be electric line shortly, price $5,000.
3¼ acres inside city, surrounded by streets, price $3,000.
Sells avenue, corner of Atwood, West End, price $600.
Inman Park, 85x175, price $3,000.
Inman Park, 90x260, price $3,000.
Washington Heights, 50x175, price $1,500.
Juniper street, close to Peachtree, a corner lot, 60x200, price $3,500.
1,800 acres selected timber land near Murphy, N. C., and within five miles of railway, price $2.50 per acre.
600 acres virgin pine timber, 1½ miles railway frontage, price $5 per acre.
104,500 acres choice timber and coal lands, Tennessee, near railway; will cut 720,000,000 feet lumber and has over 500,000,000 tons of coal; $3.50 per acre.
We also have some fine acreage tracts near Atlanta that will repay investigation. We cannot, however, attempt to show outside property until the roads dry up.
